

Junior League Ball to Surpass Previous Efforts

The following are among those who will occupy boxes at the Junior League Plantation Ball, to be held at the armory on Tuesday, November 26: Major and Mrs. O. R. Hildebrand, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carr, Mr. and Mrs. John Weber, Mr. and Mrs. George Washburn of Saugerties, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wilber of Saugerties, Mr. and Mrs. E. Fessenden, Mr. and Mrs. Chandler, Mrs. George Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. D. Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. E. Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Osterhoudt, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Warren, Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Brinnier, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Hildebrand, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phelps of Saugerties, Mr. and Mrs. C. Reid of Saugerties, Mr. and Mrs. E. Washburn of Saugerties, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bernstein, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Fasset, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Winne, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Tindale, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Chambers, Mrs. J. Cordis, Mr. and Mrs. David Burgevin, Mr. and Mrs. George Burgevin, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Elmendorf, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Fischer, Mr. and Mrs. Alveres Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dempsey, William O'Reilly, William Dwyer, Mrs. Knaught, Mr. and Mrs. R. Rodie, Mr. and Mrs. Baltus Van Kleek of Poughkeepsie, Mr. and Mrs. F. Gikenson of Poughkeepsie, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Rose.

The boxes for the ball have sold very rapidly and it is possible two additional ones will be erected. The boxes will be placed on either side of the stage and raised more than a foot from the floor so that the chairs can be placed at the very front of the hall, and everyone will be able to see perfectly. The stage will be raised several feet and be easily visible and through the courtesy of William A. Warren will be fitted with microphones and amplifiers, which will carry the program and later the dance music to all parts of the armory.

Suicide of Charles H. Betts

Lyons, N. Y., Nov. 25 (AP).—Charles H. Betts, Lyons postmaster, who rose from a poor orphan doing odd jobs in a country store to wide prominence as a Republican leader and weekly newspaper editor, was dead today, victim of a bullet fired by his own hand. He was 66.

Discouragement over his failure to find relief from long illness was responsible for the suicide, which took place in his private office in the post-office building yesterday afternoon, according to the family. He shot himself through the heart.

Warren, Dean of Senators, Is Dead

Senate Will Honor Wyoming Senator, Veteran of Pioneer Days, With a State Funeral Tuesday in the Senate Chamber.

Washington, Nov. 25 (AP).—Death has taken Senator Francis E. Warren of Wyoming, a veteran of the rugged, pioneering days of the west, who came to Washington to serve longer in the United States Senate than any man in history.

With his wife, his son, Fred, and his son-in-law, General John J. Pershing, at his bedside, the elderly legislator died yesterday morning from an attack of pneumonia and bronchitis. He was 85 years old.

The Senate will honor the man who was one of its members continuously for 35 years with a state funeral tomorrow in the Senate chamber. Afterward delegations from both Houses of Congress will escort the body to Wyoming, where it will be buried.

His death left some uncertainty as to who his successor in this post will be. Senator Smoot of Utah, the ranking Republican, is chairman of the Finance committee, a post he is not expected to relinquish for the appropriations chairmanship. Senator Jones of Washington, next in line, is chairman of the Commerce committee. His views on the relative desirability of the two committee chairmanships are unknown.

President Hoover led official Washington in paying tribute to the deceased legislator. Every stage of his life, the Chief Executive said, was marked by increasing industry and by devotion to national welfare. He added that Senator Warren was a leader among those to whom we of this generation owe much of our splendid inheritance.

Naval Pilot Dies In 6,000 Feet Dive

Lieutenant George T. Cuddihy, One of the Navy's Best Pilots, Dies When Bristol Bulldog Plane Crashes.

Washington, Nov. 25 (AP).—Lieutenant George T. Cuddihy, one of the Navy's best pilots, was killed today when the British Bristol Bulldog airplane he was testing crashed in a dive from a 10,000-foot altitude and buried itself so far in the earth that only the feet of its pilot were visible above the plowed ground.

Santa's Arrival A Novel Event

Will Drop at Powell Field Thanksgiving Day at 10:30 a. m. Will Head Big Parade Through the City.

Santa Claus's airplane arrival and parachute drop at Powell Field Thanksgiving Day morning at 10:30 o'clock promises to be one of the most novel happenings here in some time, so every little boy and girl, dads and mothers, are requested by the Rose & Gorman store officials, who are sponsoring Kris Kringle's coming to be at the field and witness it.

As legend has it, Santa always arrived by way of his reindeer sled. He sailed through the air on Christmas eve and halted his load of toys on the housetops, then entered the dwellings through the chimney and delivered toys, candies and other presents requested.

But in these days when everything must be done in a hurry, Santa too must speed things up. He has to get around earlier and faster. So the jolly old fellow will arrive in Kingston on Thanksgiving Day instead of Christmas eve, to get a line on what the little folks would like to have. And he will arrive in a way never before witnessed by Kingstonsians.

Santa will sail over the city some time before 10:30, according to a wireless recently sent from his home in the frozen north to the Rose & Gorman store on North Front street. Then promptly at 10:30 he will descend to Powell Field in his parachute.

He expects a big welcome, and from all indications his expectations will not go amiss. Ever since the news of his arrival was published in The Freeman last Friday, little folks have made up their minds that they surely will be at Powell Field with mother and dad to see St. Nick land in his parachute.

After Santa lands and has a chat with the little folks who wish to tell him what they want for Christmas, he will head a parade through the city. Every little boy and girl is invited to take part in the parade. The little folks are asked to have plenty of horns and other noise-makers for the parade.

Santa will return to his home in the north after the parade, but will be back at the Rose & Gorman store during the Christmas season with a lot of toys to add to the present large stock carried by the store.

Rose & Gorman invites the children and their parents to drop around to their toy department and get a line on what will be needed for Christmas.

Veteran Musical Plattekill Grange Comedy Favorite Wins In County Dies Suddenly Dramatic Contest

Raymond Hitchcock, Born in Auburn, For Many Years Occupied Commanding Position Among Stage Luminaries.

Los Angeles, Nov. 25 (AP).—Raymond Hitchcock, 64, stage actor and musical comedy favorite, died here suddenly early today from heart disease.

The veteran actor and his wife, Mrs. Margaret Hitchcock, were returning to their Beverly Hills home from a short automobile trip. As they reached the driveway to their home Hitchcock gave a gasp and fell over on his wife's shoulder dead.

Hitchcock, who came to Hollywood several years ago to enter motion pictures, had been subject to heart attacks for several years, friends said. Films in which he was featured included "Red Heads Preferred" and "Money Talks". He also appeared in other pictures during 1926 and 1927.

Mrs. Hitchcock said her husband had been ill for seven months. He spent some time in Chicago, then moved to Colorado Springs and also made a nine-week stay in Kansas City, undergoing treatment. He returned to Beverly Hills about three weeks ago.

For many years Hitchcock occupied a leading position among the stage luminaries of America, his greatest successes having been in the field of musical comedy.

Born in Auburn, N. Y., October 22, 1865, he made his first stage appearance in 1890. After appearing in minor roles in many New York comedies, he scored highly in "King Dodo", a fantastic musical play, in which he portrayed the title role for two years.

His first real starring vehicle was as Abijah Boozie in "The Yankee Consul", in which he toured the country after a prolonged run in the Broadway Theatre, New York.

One of his most outstanding successes was scored in "Hitchy Koo", which was produced at the Cohan and Harris Theatre in New York in 1917. This show was taken on an extensive tour of America, and later returned to New York for a re-engagement.

His more recent efforts were in "The Old Soak" and "The Sap", in which he appeared in 1921.

Agricultural Leaders Confer With President

Washington, Nov. 25 (AP).—With a meeting of agricultural leaders, President Hoover today reached the end of the series of conferences through which he has undertaken to stimulate lagging phases of industrial and stabilize business conditions in general.

To supplement his recent discussions with spokesmen for the manufacturing, railroad, banking, building and labor fields, the chief executive summoned to the White House officials of the leading farm organizations for consideration of what the agricultural industry can contribute to the broad program that he has mapped out.

Plattekill Grange Judge Sharpe Died Sunday

Former Ulster County Judge and Member of Ulster County Bar Will Be Buried Here on Tuesday Afternoon—Brief Sketch of His Life.

Former County Judge Severin Bruyn Sharpe died Sunday night at his home, No. 164 East 72nd street, New York city. The body will be brought to this city by automobile cortege for interment in Wilmette cemetery about 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Judge Sharpe was a son of the late General George H. and Caroline Hasbrouck Sharpe, and is survived by his wife, who was Miss Paynter of this city, and a daughter, who is married; one brother, General Henry G. Sharpe, Quartermaster General in the U. S. Army, retired; and a sister, Katherine, widow of the Hon. Ira Davenport, of New York city.

Judge Sharpe for many years was a prominent member of the Ulster County Bar and served as attorney for the Ulster County Savings Institution for many years. He also served Ulster county as county judge by appointment and was defeated at the following election by Judge Van Etten, the Republican candidate. During the early days of the building of the Ashokan reservoir, Judge Sharpe served as a member of one of the Ashokan condemnation commissions. He was a graduate of Yale.

Some years ago Judge Sharpe and his family removed to New York city, where they had since resided. He practiced law in New York for a number of years, and for several years continued to maintain a law office in Kingston, coming here at stated intervals to meet and consult with his clients.

Judge Sharpe resided for years in Ulster county, where he had a home on the property was sold as the site for the Governor Clinton Hotel, the homestead was removed later to the rear of the lot and has since been used as the Governor Clinton Annex.

The Sharpe family for years had been prominently identified with social and civic life of Kingston. Judge Sharpe was widely known not only in Kingston but throughout Ulster county, and was a man of strictest integrity. News of his death will be received with regret by all who knew him.

Early Rush for License Plates

First Plates, 6-D-701, Issued to Dr. F. J. Dudenhausen of St. Remy—Additional Questions on Application Blanks.

The issuing of automobile license plates for 1930 commenced at the local bureau, 237 Fair street today, and during the morning there were a large number of applicants. At times there was a line waiting for plates. The early rush was probably due to the fact that many people desired to secure low numbers and came early. However, the first plates issued were not small figures as the Ulster county allotment of plates started this year with 6-D-701, and his plate was issued to Dr. F. J. Dudenhausen of St. Remy. By noon a hundred plates had been given out. This is more than was issued last year on the first two days. The first day last year there were but 19 issued and on the second day but 71.

Securing of plates early will prevent the usual last minute rush. Plates may be attached to cars on and after December 16, or two weeks before the first of the year.

Plates this year are considerably different than last year. The colors are reversed and the series number and letter are large again, as was the custom several years ago. The small letter and series number was found difficult to read and the department reverted to the old style of large series number and letter.

Application blanks are similar to last year except that there are additional questions which deal with the new financial responsibility law which went into effect on September 1. If convicted of speeding or reckless driving where an injury to a person or property resulted; if convicted of operating a motor vehicle without a license or while intoxicated or leaving the scene of an accident without reporting or where the applicant has been involved in an accident resulting in a judgment against applicant since December 1, 1929, for $100 or more which is unsatisfied, then proof of financial responsibility must be shown and such proof attached to application.

Woman Injured In Auto Crash

Saturday evening about 9 o'clock the Dodge truck of the French Dry Works, driven by Solomon Dubin, and a Studebaker sedan driven by Harry Fraser, collided at Maiden Lane and Fair street. Miriam Dubin, of 12 Len Court, who was riding in the truck was bruised on the right side of her body. Both machines were damaged in the crash.

Washington, Nov. 25 (AP).—The Supreme Court today declared the Interstate Commerce Commission's order without authority to order the construction of union passenger station.

Clemenceau Is Buried Without Pomp Ceremony

Body of the "Father of Victory" Placed Beside That of His Father in the Hills of His Native Vendee, Near Mouchamps.

Paris, Nov. 25 (AP).—"The Cannon of the Armistice" at noon today began the gun salute which was notification to the populace that the body of Georges Clemenceau, father of victory, had been lowered to its last resting place in the hills of its native Vendee, near Mouchamps.

The roar of the guns, located on the parade ground of Des Invalides, reverberated through the city, and good Frenchmen stopped and raised their hats in their own salute to the statesman who died yesterday morning.

Paris could not hear, but every French battery throughout the republic and its possessions and every French warship on the high seas joined in the same roaring salute of 161 guns.

Clemenceau died at 1:45 a. m. Sunday after an illness of several days. In the latter part of which he was in a coma. He was 85 years old, his great age making him particularly susceptible to the cardiac and uremic attacks which culminated in death.

He specifically named in his will those he wished to attend his funeral. They included his son, two daughters, two grandsons, two executors—Nicholas Pietri and M. Paurin—and his former associates in government, Georges Mandel, General Mordacq, his private secretary, Marten, Pierre Godin, who was president of the city council, and Senator Jeanneney who was undersecretary of state under the "Tiger".

M. Clemenceau's instructions for the funeral were clear and laconic, written on a single sheet of paper given to the executor, Nicholas Pietri. "Lay me beside my father," he wrote. "On my tomb place the stone from ancient Helles that I brought back from Greece with me. There is to be no inscription. Also place in the coffin the little box which is on the top shelf of my closet and my cane, and a few flowers from the trenches that I picked and kept."

Buried Beside Father at Vendee

Mouchamps, Vendee, France, Nov. 25 (AP).—Former Premier Georges Clemenceau was buried shortly after noon today as he had wished, without pomp or ceremony.

The body of the "Father of Victory" was placed beside that of his father in a little plot in Colombar just outside the village to rest forever in his beloved Vendean home.

Only members of the family and about twenty of his most intimate friends were present at the interment, gendarmes keeping at a distance villagers and other spectators.

Although the premier's closest friends had announced he would be buried standing upright, the family decided at the last moment that the grave should be dug as usual because solid rock crops out at the burial place to within a yard of the surface.

B. Rogers Wales, State Senator, Dies

Binghamton, N. Y., Nov. 25 (AP).—B. Rogers Wales, state senator from the fortieth district since 1925, died this morning in the Lourdes Hospital here following an operation for cirrhosis of the liver a week ago today.

He had been in ill health for nearly two years but had continued his work with the state crime commission, of which he was a sub-committee chairman and in which he took a deep interest, until about ten days ago.

Police Rescued Man from Creek

About 1:45 o'clock this morning while Policemen Camp and Schick were standing on the corner of Broadway and the Strand, they heard faint calls for help which appeared to come from the direction of the Rondout creek. Rushing to the Cornell dock they found a young man struggling in the water, and after some difficulty managed to haul him out.

The man proved to be Frank Smith, 18 years old, of 98 Pearl street. He was rushed to police headquarters at the city hall where he was stripped and donned clothing furnished by the police and then spent the remainder of the night in the detention room.

According to Smith's story he was walking along the edge of the dock and fell into the water. Later in the morning Smith, dressed in a suit of overalls furnished by the police, was arraigned in police court before Judge A. H. Van Buren. He was charged with public intoxication.

He told Judge Van Buren that he had a job in a lunch room on central Broadway, and the judge, believing that Smith's narrow escape from drowning, was sufficient punishment, discharged him.

Good Mother Eckert Recovers! 68 Year Old Neuritis Victim Confined For Months, Praises Mexa Kava

"I Am a New Woman Again," Says Well Known Lady—Backaches Relieved—Sleeps All Night.

If ever there was a case to test the merit of Mexa Kava, the great compound of Mexa strength, I constantly felt "doped." My own mother plant-esp, it was the day that I felt the rheumatic pains settled in my joints. My backache, wrist and elbow were like red-hot coal. And talk about pain! I stayed awake night after night. Now my back feels as free as silk—not a pain, not a kink, not a bit of stiffness anywhere. My backache found the "exit." My back feels as strong and free as when I was 20. The swelling in my ankles and feet have gone. No pain at all. I can walk and use them as well as ever again. I feel all rested-up when morning comes, none of that deadly fatigue. My arms and hands are now completely free of any pains. I can use them as well as ever—no kinks, no redness or swelling. Mexa Kava is different from every medicine on the market. It contains pure Mexican magney plant-esp, NOT A DRUG. What its secret is few know. But thousands who have taken it report great benefits. You take Mexa Kava on the strength of what it has done, not on a promise of what it will do.

As the birds fell, farmers lost $100 and to Wisconsin duck hunters were chalked up ten more useless deaths. Wisconsin farmers are losing their hawk and owl friends in swarms because the trigger fingers of duck hunters itch and no ducks are flying. Owen J. Gromme, Milwaukee museum taxidermist and Isak Walton League member, declares. Mr. Gromme has been spending several days in and near Milwaukee marshes waiting for specimen ducks.

Hawk, Not Cat, Best to Exterminate Mice

Milwaukee.—A family of ten hawks, led by the patriarch, circled once and swooped low over the decoys. They circled again. The ducks hadn't been flying near and hunters who crouched in wait were peeved; they shot. The hawk family came down.

As the birds fell, farmers lost $100 and to Wisconsin duck hunters were chalked up ten more useless deaths. "The hunter who shoots owls and hawks now is upsetting a natural balance," he said. "These birds are beneficial to the farmer, killing the mice that feed on the farmer's grain. With the older hawks and owls slain in the hunting season, farmers tell me they notice an increase in mice in the granaries."

Royal Medal Is Sought for Bahama Fisherman

Nassau, Bahamas.—A royal medal for bravery will undoubtedly be asked for Edward F. Hanna, a fisherman of Spring Point, for the rescue of twelve persons, including two women and two children, from what appeared a hopeless task. The Hastings sloop, returning from a Sunday school picnic at Delcable Bay, with twelve passengers aboard, capsized and the entire party was thrown into the sea. Hanna, in his boat nearby, jumped into the water and saved every one of the passengers single-handed. Swimming from one drowning person to another he brought them one by one to the rigging and mast of the capsized boat. One woman, clinging to an eight-year-old girl, was almost drowned when Hanna reached her. Three of the rescued were in a semi-conscious state when saved, and two of them were practically brought from the bottom. All of the party were non-swimmers.

Descendants of Heroine Seeking Historic Knife

Haverhill, Mass.—Persistent attempts to purchase the knife used by Hannah Dustin in slaying Indians may finally be brought to a successful conclusion by the Dustin-Dustin Family association, the 70 members of which are all direct descendants of the historically famous Indian killer. On March 16, 1697, Hannah stepped into the pages of history when she and her children's nurse were captured by redskins during an attack on Haverhill. When their captors camped for the night the two women and an English youth killed and scalped the entire band with the exception of a squaw and a little boy.

A New Hampshire man has been in possession of the knife for years and has steadfastly refused to part with it. It is now understood by the association that the owner has consented to bequeath the relic to Hannah's descendants.

Janitor's Work Added to School Curriculum

Akron, Ohio.—And next comes the newest course offered in the curriculum of the up to date school. It will be a course in how to become a janitor. The course will become a part of the regular program of the Akron school system. However, it will not be known as the program as "janitoring." Custodian Training school is much more dignified.

Camera at Race Finish Will Decide Disputes

Park.—The famous Longchamps race course has been the scene of some bitter disputes at the finish, so the stewards have decided to install a camera in the judge's stand and hereafter the result of every race will be photographed. The pictures will be developed immediately and can be studied by any dissatisfied winner.

Consider Siblings for Peace Prize.
Oslo, Norway, Nov. 25 (AP).—Among the candidates whose names have come before the committee which will award the Nobel Peace Prize is that of Frank B. Kellogg, former American Secretary of State and co-worker with Foreign Minister Briand in bringing about the famous Kellogg-Briand renunciation of war pact.

Poll and school taxes in American Samoa are based on the height of the children of the taxpayers' family.

Smart Fall Duds
Offered by Paris

Dresses Four Inches Below
Center of Knee; Waistline Close Fitting.

To see really smart fashions in New York city one plans to be on Park avenue in early afternoon, have luncheon at the Ritz or St. Regis and tea at Sherry's or Pierre's. But when we go to Paris for fashions, says Jane Warren Wells, in Farm and Fireside, we must plan to be invited by the couturiers, go promptly at the appointed hour, be assigned to a "venduse" and sit in the chairs provided for us until the showing of one and one-half hours is finished. You are in every sense a guest and must conduct yourself as such.

If you exclaim with delight at any special number your venduse will write that number down and show the garment in hand afterward, when you may order a duplicate made to your measure if you desire. When your order is placed your measurements are taken and you are assigned a time for first fitting (your venduse is always present to interpret for you). At the first fitting the date for a second fitting is arranged. Usually one of the firm sees the dress in the second fitting and makes suggestions for individual becomingness.

The greatest problem this year was to select, as each house presented so many desirable garments. You realized at the very first opening that you could not possibly approach winter without a trend ensemble, consisting of a skirt, sleeveless blouse and three-quarters coat. Your ensemble could be of brown, blue, green, gray, or black, but in any case flecked with white or cream. Wool it must be, with leather trimmings, mannish buckles and wooden beads for accessories. Many wool ensembles had smart snuffs of silk patchwork, of designed wool fabric or of knitted silk and wool. Oxford or one-strap shoes with a beret or jaunty felt hat complete this informal costume.

This fall the silhouette is different and skirts are longer in proportion to waist length and longer at the knee. All the smartest houses showed the dress four inches below the center of the knee. Unless you lift the belt higher and make the waistline small, you will not like the new line, because it will seem old-fashioned and will appear so until you carry the silhouette through to a trim collar, trim, tight sleeve with flaring cuff and skirt with fullness achieved by inserted gores, plaits, flares or gores.

Picture to yourself now an afternoon dress of printed velvet with a flatter velvet collar, an exquisite lace jabot, a jeweled buckle. If you are thinking of a satin frock, just know that your judgment was upheld in every opening and that you may use white, navy, ecru, bright green, red, or blue to trim your frock, and especially can you wear a crystal or pearl necklace and use a brilliant buckle to fasten the narrow belt.

Many of the dresses made of rich fabric were cut in one piece with a flare from the waistline down. They looked starting at the waistline, made two inches apart and two inches down, fitted the dress to the figure and caused it to appear easy but with a slight blouse above the waistline. Afternoon frocks were slightly longer in the back than in the front.

Evening dresses are very long—down to the floor in the back and six to eight inches below the knee in the front. Necklines are lower in back than in front. Waistlines are close fitting, almost bust-line, and many dresses have exquisite velvet ribbon bows at the back waistline. Coats all have a flare, generous cut, long, graceful, outstanding collars of fur or fabric and lining of the color of the coat or a plain color to harmonize with the most pronounced color of the dress.

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

Golden Sunset Lodge, L. A. B. of R. T., will hold a regular meeting to night at 8 o'clock in Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street.

Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in K. of C. Hall, Broadway and Andrew street.

A regular meeting of Colonial Rebekah Lodge, No. 48, I. O. O. F., will be held this evening. The newly elected and appointed officers will be installed by District Deputy President Edna J. Cole and staff.

A meeting of the Triangle Club of Franklin Lodge, No. 37, Knights of Pythias, will be held on Monday, December 2, at 6:45 o'clock at the lodge rooms, Broadway and Thomas street. The regular monthly meetings have not been held during the past couple of months due to conflicting dates with various civic matters. With the December meeting the regular meetings will be resumed. As an opening attraction Walter T. Eiston, president of the Club, has arranged a special attraction. The speaker will be Sidney K. Clapp, who is well known as an interesting speaker. Members of the Club are invited to bring along a friend. As usual the meal will be in charge of Jasper Kelder, chef.

Clifton Chapter, No. 445, Order of Eastern Star, very strongly entertained the Master Masons at a regular stated meeting held at Masonic Hall, Wall street, Friday evening. Nearly two hundred members and visitors from sister chapters were present. After the opening ceremonies, Worshipful George B. Styles, master of Kingston Lodge, No. 19, F. and A. M., introduced Right Worshipful Milo Claude Moore, man, district deputy grand master of the Greene-Clifton district, who was then received and welcomed by the worthy matron, Alice M. Scardfield, who bespoke her pleasure in having as their guest, the district representative of the grand master of Masons of the state of New York. The master of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, Worshipful George B. Styles, accompanied by a large delegation of Master Masons, was then introduced by R. W. Myron B. Styles, past assistant grand lecturer, who also introduced two past masters of Kingston Lodge, Worshipful Charles B. Everett and Worshipful Irving B. Rose. Miss Scardfield in welcoming these honored guests, expressed her delight in receiving these distinguished guests, not only as leaders of Kingston Lodge but as active members of Clifton Chapter. Worshipful George B. Styles then presented to the worthy matron a beautiful basket of flowers from the delegation of brothers who were the guests of the evening. The speaker to the Master Masons was Most Worthy Grace Voorhees Merritt, past grand matron of the Grand Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, who gave a splendid address on Masonry, its antiquity, purpose and its ideals, and the close relationship to the Order of Eastern Star. Miss Merritt received the close attention and appreciation of the assemblage. Right Worshipful Milo Claude Moore then expressed his pleasure in being a guest of Clifton Chapter and gave a stirring address on what fraternity should and does mean to members of the Masonic and Eastern Star bodies. Pleasant short talks were then given by the present master of Kingston Lodge, Worshipful George B. Styles, also Past Master Worshipful Charles B. Everett and Worshipful Irving B. Rose. The worthy matron then presented leather key folders to the Master Masons in presence of the occasion. This being the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of the organist, Mrs. Carrie Mullen, who had served Clifton Chapter for many years, she with her husband were escorted west of the altar, where Worthy Matron Alice M. Scardfield and Associate Matron Mrs. Elizabeth Kieffer congratulated them in words and song, expressing their appreciation of the service rendered the chapter and presented them with flowers and gifts. A most delightful musical program was rendered, after which delicious refreshments were served.

KINGSTON, N. Y., NOV. 25, 1929.

The American Academy of Science is authority for the news that weather nowadays is just the same as it was 20,000 years ago, no better and no worse. Scientists have proved this to their own satisfaction by examining clay deposits in New England. Ages ago the weather moved in cycles of
 from three to five years each of cool and warm years. It is still doing so with variations which may seem large as they occur, but which are actually too slight to consider in any long view of the matter. There are a lot of weather-wise old folks today who know the scientists are dead wrong.
 They don't have to study clay deposits and worry over anything that happened 20,000 years ago. They need only look back to their own childhood
 when the snow was deeper and stayed on the ground longer and when tremendous storms occurred that make present-day weather look puny and unworthy of consideration. Maybe these unscientific people get a lot more fun out of the weather than the geologists and meteorologists do.
 They put imagination and emotion into it and invest it with some of the mystery it held for primitive man.
 All of which helps to make it endur-able and interesting and a perennial
 best bet for conversation.

In one big city, it is reported, 250 street light poles a year have to be replaced or repaired because automobiles have crashed into them. The average damage cost to drivers is $50, though installation of an entirely new pole raises it closer to $165. This seems like a large casualty list, considering the fact that the poles are not in the traffic lanes and are plainly visible. Crashing them is nearly always the result of skidding. A driver has been in too great a hurry and has slammed on his brakes suddenly. Or he swerves to avoid another car and hits the pole instead. If pole and car are much damaged it is a sure sign there was too much speed. Moderate speed and a moderate bump don't demolish a steel or concrete pole. The skidding car is a serious menace to its driver and to any persons or property against which it skids. Safety campaigns should concentrate on this danger item more frequently.

Clemenceau, the famous French war premier and statesman of a thousand battles, dying, urged his friends to save him from the splendor of a national funeral. "I won't have one!" he declared. "I want to be buried with the utmost simplicity."
 An American statesman who died recently spent the last two weeks of his life carefully planning a public funeral in his home city. It had been his life ambition to have a state funeral. With all the details worked out, he died content. There is no accounting for taste, even in death.
 One type of funeral is inherently as good as another. It comes to the same thing in the end. "All go to the same place." And being there, it probably matters not at all what sort of funeral they had. It is well to grant anyone's last desires when possible. That eases the dying hours.

One hundred successful present-day authors have set down what they read when they were young. The most interesting thing about the list is that 5 per cent of them didn't read anything. One of these was Emil Ludwig, who as a boy went no further than looking at book illustrations. Another didn't even look at a newspaper comic strip until he was 12 years old. It all goes to show that you never can tell. The seemingly literary boy or girl may lose interest in literature later, or never write anything worth reading.
 The seemingly dull child, insensitive to the "finest things of life," may surprise people later on. A child's like or dislike for science or art is a thing you can bank on with some degree of assurance. But literature is different. The most talkative persons are always breaking into literature.

A department store "skyler," whose job is to keep the store up-to-date in its purchases so that it can meet the public demand efficiently, makes a good case for the common sense of modern women. In the matter of current feminine styles, for example, she points out that skirts

 may be worn at any length from two inches below the knee to the floor, varying with becomingness to the individual wearer and with the occasion. The reappearance of long gowns has not ended the era of short ones. It has merely increased the variety of clothing which may wear.
 Sports clothing, commonly used for business and travel as much as for sport, is holding its own amid the ultra-feminine garments of the season. It remains simple and comfortable.

A woman in Washington, D. C., suing her husband for separation, explaining that he "is obsessed with the subject of biology and treats her as a biological specimen." He has tried to regulate her eating, sleeping, etc., on that basis. She asserts further that her scholarly mate beat her and castrated her around by the hair and growled and snarled at her. Apparently there were two biological specimens in that family, one of them scientifically known as a "troglodyte."
 "We have in a stuff, though,
 isn't so intriguing in real life as it is in the movies. That husband ought to be performing at Hollywood."

Discussing the shrewdness of the human, as illustrated by an escaped lunatic who promptly stole a car and joined the racing multitudes, the New Orleans Times-Picayune asks:
 "How on earth could any one pick him from the rest of the pack?"

WHY CHILDREN ARE SAVED.

Did you know that less than twenty years ago three out of every ten children died during the first year of life. A large number died during the cold wet weather, of nose, throat, and chest conditions, but an even greater number during the warm weather when milk would not be fresh.

And today what are the figures?
 Less than one in every ten die during the first year. What has brought this about?

The proper feeding of the youngster is the biggest factor.
 In former days it was thought, in fact I was so taught, that nothing could equal the mother's milk for the child, and that cow's milk, or any artificial foods, were very poor substitutes.

As a matter of fact where the mother is healthy, and her milk agrees with the child it is a great boon to the child and also to the mother.

However nowadays physicians do not hesitate to take the child off mother's milk and substitute cow's milk, condensed milk, orange juice,
 cod liver oil and so forth.

Because it is now possible to get purer milk than in former times and pure milk is safe milk.
 Further, youngsters now get more of the outdoors and sunshine and these are Nature's body builders.

Some of our older mothers are apt to smile when they see the young mother of today watching and measuring the baby's food, seeing that it gets its feeding at definite hours day and night, and that it is weighed regularly, and also that at regular intervals it is taken to the physician's office and thoroughly examined, but the record of only one baby lost in ten is the answer to these older mothers.

If you are not feeling well you can tell your doctor about it. A baby can only cry, be fussy or fretful, perhaps put its hand on a sore ear or a sore gum; it has no means of communicating its needs.

An overhauling by the doctor can detect any trouble with diet, with eyes, ears, nose, throat, heart, lungs, kidneys and so forth.

If more mothers could have their child examined regularly there is no question but that the number of children dying during the first year

The Secret of Mohawk Pond

CHAPTER I
 THE COUPE CAME TO AN ABRUPT
 stop as Peggy pressed down on the brake and Julia, sitting behind her, pitched forward.
 She had turned the car completely around before her maid had recovered sufficiently from her surprise to question her.
 "For why did you go to Litch-Sei, Miss Peggy?" she demanded.
 "Because I had I can't get there and back within an hour."
 Peggy compared her watch and the speedometer.
 "At least not in a new car. I'll phone the doctor and ask him to come to Yew Lodge instead."
 "Tain't necessary on my 'count," protested Julia.

Chase's violent start overturned
 a small ink bottle.
 Chase dropped a butter over the stained papers, before him and roared.
 "No harm done," he declared.
 "Where did you spring from, Ed?"
 "Sharon," briefly. "I came up to look over the old place; Clark wants to go to the city, so I am hunting another caretaker. Can you put me up, Aquila, for a week,
 say?"
 Chase looked at him dubiously.
 "Oh, certainly," but his tone lacked warmth.
 "I'll bring up my duds," Stanton called as he scurried down the steps.
 Chase had dinner ready when his

Startled by a voice, Chase turned to stare at his visitor; it was Stanton.
 "Miss Peggy, did you notice that gentleman on horseback who we passed while ago?"
 "Yes, Mr. Julia?"
 "I dunno, 'cep' he come after us a ways, an' den t'oned off into de woods. 'Seems like he wanted to speak to you, but you all went by so fast."
 "I'm sorry."
 On their approach to Mohawk
 Lane Peggy slowed down and made the turn into it in second gear, her eyes the while scanning the Evans' homestead.

The neigh of a horse came from the left and she saw a sorrel mare, saddled and bridled, standing by the spring house; its rider was not visible and she kept on her way.

Her progress up the lane, however, was closely watched by the owner of the horse who, having quenched his thirst, was comfortably seated on a bench partially concealed from the road by a clump of lilac bushes.

As Peggy drove out of sight, he got up and walked hurriedly
 through the woods skirting the lane.
 He was too late to intercept her at the first gate, Julia having opened it and gotten back into the car with unusual speed.

From down the lane came a hall
 and in another second Obadiah
 Evans was by the man's side.
 "They told me up at the store
 you were back, Lieutenant Stanton."

"As cordial as ever," grinned
 Edgar Stanton, making no attempt to shake hands. Obadiah eyed him carefully.

"Where are you staying?"
 "With you."
 But Obadiah shook his head.
 "Haven't any vacant rooms," he announced. "Just you be going?"
 Stanton took this dismissal with a tormenting smile.

He sprang into the saddle and sat looking down at Obadiah, the afternoon sun making his reddish hair appear more red.
 "How many know of the two copperheads you put out to kill the frogs in Mohawk Pond?" he asked in a quiet tone and his eyes danced
 as the color drained from Obadiah's cheeks. "Old man Prescott died from snake bite."

Horse and rider disappeared down the road to East Cornwall in a cloud of dust. At Stone Tower gate
 he dismounted, opened and closed
 it, and not troubling to mount again, let the horse follow him to the round stone tower some distance away.

UNIQUE BARN FESTIVAL
 AT PHOENICIA WEDNESDAY
 Phenicia, Nov. 25.—On Thanksgiving eve, November 27, there will be an unique "barn festival" in the Odd Fellows' Hall, Phenicia, for the benefit of St. Francis de Sales parish. It will be a real old fashioned evening of fun in the country. Rural costumes will be the style of the evening and all are expected to come as "Rebels" and "Nancies."
 There will be music and a social prize will be given, including prizes for the best rural costumes and prizes for the children. Results will be had at the farmers'

 table in a corner of the barn. Children will be admitted free. There will be a small admission fee for adults.

An evening of fun that will never be forgotten is expected.
 Mrs. James A. Clarke of Woodland is in charge of the arrangements.

Ten thousand predatory fish-gar, dogfish and carp—were removed from Indiana lakes this year.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—

by John Hix

IF YOU DOUBT THIS, WRITE FOR PROOF TO THE AUTHOR.

ROSENDALE.
 Rosendale, Nov. 23.—Rosendale Grange, No. 150, P. of H., held its last meeting on officers' night, which was well attended. After roll call business matters were discussed, dues paid, and reports read. An antique closet was presented by Brother Arthur Merrihew, renovated by Brother Walter Parades, for which the Grange was appreciative. Committees on sick members, remembering them
 with flowers and cards, were discharged. It being Armistice Day an appropriate program had been arranged by Mrs. Merrihew, worthy lecturer; also special recognition of the death of Brother William Birmingham, who is very much missed at Grange meetings. A man of integrity and honest dealing, the sympathy of the members is extended to the father, sister and brother of the deceased. Suitable hymns and prayers by the Rev. Walter Gratton, chaplain, draping the charter appropriately, brought the beautiful ceremony to a close. The hosts for the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Lefever, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lefever and Mrs. Ghear, the Misses Beatrice Ghear, Josephine and Catharine Nelsons, assisted by others, served fine refreshments. Next meeting November 25, for election of officers, to be held in Fireman's Hall.
 The shrieks of the siren, recently installed, awakened the townspeople
 to a fire which broke out today at about 3:45 a. m. The fire ladders were soon on the scene and within an hour had the fire under control.
 The blaze was in a garage owned by Henry Lippert at the foot of Depot Hill. The loss, we understand, is quite heavy, all tools being lost. Fortunately the fire did not spread.
 The card party on November 20,
 for the Benevolent Hospital, was a fine affair, thoroughly enjoyed, and it is said, netted a nice sum for a worthy cause.

A free get-together supper was held in All Saints' Parish House on Wednesday, November 20, attended by the members and their friends.
 The menu was roast pork with dressing, mashed potatoes, creamed lima beans, French cabbage salad, celery, assorted pickles, cranberries, hot rolls, tea, coffee and rice pudding.
 The supper was under the supervision of Mrs. Roy Styles, assisted by Mesdames Beauvais, Thorpe, Schoonmaker, Mollenhauer, Snelling, the Misses Styles and Hasbrouck. Addresses were made by the Rev. W. J.
 Gratton, rector, who welcomed all.

the Rev. Father Hornby of Holy Cross Church, and E. A. Chilson, of Kingston. All attention was paid to the speakers, on the subject of Every Member Canvass, and the duties of parishioners to their church, presented in a clear concise way.

The committee on the Rev. James G. Cameron memorial window fund held a meeting at the home of Lioré LeFevre. Progress reported by William F. Delaney, the treasurer. Many friends of the beloved priest are interested. Further contributions will be gratefully received by Mr. Delaney to complete the fund.

If your will is clearly expressed, properly drawn and witnessed, and if it names this institution as your executor and trustee, there is small chance of its being broken, or successfully contested.

It is when there is no will—or one improperly drawn—that the "sisters and the cousins and the aunts" may come in under the law for definite shares of the estate.

As executor and trustee under your will, we will be here not only to carry out its provisions in a prompt and business-like manner, but to defend it, with all the resources at our command, in event of contest.

Our Trust Officer will be glad to explain the full extent of our services whenever you care to come in.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

THE FLATTERY OF FUR AP-PEALS TO WOMEN THIS SEASON.

New York—Egg shell and peach have developed into important winter colors. Every notable gathering bears testimony to this interesting fact which has presumably been brought about because of a preference for brown in suits, coats and costumes. There are lovely harmonies possible between brown and peach, and between brown and egg shell, vanilla and kindred tones, these harmonies being greatly helped by the introduction of soft fur bands and bows at the neckline. Many of these furs are in nude tones as one has learned to term certain beige shades, although others are in brown, fox, marten, sable and other brown tints.

A Brown Transparent Velvet Dress, With a Ribbon of Eggshell Gaiety Tied in a Soft Bow. The Shaping of the Skirt Is Interesting. (Copyright, 1929, by Fairchild.)

That the ultimate of this range which runs through egg shell, peach, apricot and so on is capucine is not remarkable. Capucine or red-orange shades are of tremendous importance this winter but are confined to evening frocks. The other tones have prestige both day and night.

Color contrasts between the coat and its trimming, or the frock and the fur which borders it continue to be liked better than monotone trimmings. The fur trimmed gown is definitely established as a useful member of society. Naturally flat furs, ranging from gairak to ermine are found most adaptable to the purposes of finishing necklines, and decorating sleeves or trimming hats. The fur bordered skirt is usually that of any evening dress. White on black and nude or café-au-lait tones on brown find favor also black on red.

Eleanor Gunn Says

While black and white lead numerically at many smart functions, particularly for wraps, this remains a colorful season.

Black suede accessories, bag, shoes and gloves are very much worn.

Black is being much used with white or colored stones in jewelry novelties.

Winter suits have lived up to the expectations of those who sponsored them, and are worn in everything from tweed to velvet.

Shantung, pongee, and rajah are being ordered for southern ward-robies.

Many of the best looking evening dresses are shawl-like almost to the knees and flare from there down.

Seed pearl jewelry is very chic.

Porcelain lamb has developed into one of the leading furs of the winter and is especially liked on black or red.

Wood embroidered handbags are among the novelties intended to complete sports costumes.

Evening caps, or hats of metallic fabric are on wide side, or long back lines and resemble peasant caps in many cases.

Mink bags in black satin, velvet or fur are among the novelties.

Bags and scarfs both fringed are also being shown and are of Rodier fabrics.

Fashions in gloves and other gifts are being eagerly sought for holiday gifts and uses.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Smart Top Garment.

6633. This is an excellent model for novelty woolsens, for tweeds, and also for fur and fur fabrics. It is cut with a flare, and has raglan shoulders. The fronts form revers facings, above the lapped closing, and meet a high collar. The sleeve is cut with fullness below the elbow, and is finished with a short strap that holds the fullness at the back of the arm. Lengthwise tucks supply additional fullness, and effective trimming to the back. Serviceable pockets finish the fronts.

The Pattern for this desirable style is cut in 5 sizes: 32, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. To make the coat for a 38 inch size will require 2 1/2 yards of 54 inch material. To interline the collar will require 1-3/4 yard of canvas, cut crosswise and 27 inches wide. To line the coat will require 3 1/2 yards 36 inches wide.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice.

Send 15c in silver or stamps for our Up-to-Date Fall and Winter 1929-1930 Book of Fashions, showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of Ladies' Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches) all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Discover New Enemy in Fight Against Malaria

Chicago.—Man's war against malaria has developed in the tropics into a battle with his nearest blood relative of the animal kingdom, the red spider monkey. It was pointed out to directors of the Gorgas Memorial laboratory in session here by Dr. Herbert Clarke, one of the board.

Dr. Clarke, who is in charge of laboratory work at Panama City, Canal Zone, said that on an expedition this summer into the jungle he had discovered that the monkey is a malaria carrier.

"The mosquito that carries malaria germs bites the monkey, infecting him and then other mosquitoes pick up the germs from his blood stream," the doctor said. "Neither the government nor the Gorgas Memorial laboratory expects to attempt extermination of red spider monkeys, but rather to segregate them away from the centers of population."

SO SAY WE ALL OF US
November days are short in hours.
And many often murky;
But there's one day we do enjoy—
The day which brings us turkey;
The largest plume is used that day
To hold the "turk and tramping."
And "taters" mashed and creamy white
In peaks of gray swimming.
We wonder how we eat so much
When to the day beholden
We eat a space for pumpkin pie
So spicy, rich and golden;
And golden, too, are thoughts which come
For all the joys of living—
For all the blessings through the year
We celebrate Thanksgiving.

A closed mouth shut out trouble.

Dad: "Move? Why?"
Son: "Well, I've kicked all the kids
in this neighborhood."

Accused: "That is what I want to know."

The difference in food fads and

She: "What's wrong with him?"

He: "Well, it's this way; his father—the man who names Pull-

It pays to know

WHEN you spend your money for the seven and seventy things that are always popping up out of nowhere to demand a portion of your income, you want to be certain they are returning the utmost in value for your every dollar.

But how can you know the worth of the products you buy? Can you test them scientifically?

Can you make microscopic examinations for flaws and imperfections?
Chemical analysis for purity and composition? Physical machine-tests for stress and strain, strength and durability? Have you laboratories equipped for this work? Can you afford the scientists and research workers to perform it?

There is a less expensive way to safeguard your purchases. A better way to buy.

Buy products that have been tested by others! Products that have passed the most ruthless and rigid of all tests... that of actual use! Nationally known, nationally liked, nationally used products! Advertised products!

Here, in the advertisements, are products of sound worth brought to your attention. Products manufactured to standards of certain quality, that have been tried and tested by the most exacting persons... people who have bought them and used them over and over again. Products worth your money.

"Nu-Erb Has Helped Me In Every Way," Says Kingston Lady

Brought Relief After Eight Years Suffering From Stomach, Kidney And Liver Ailments.

Vast numbers of local men and women have found amazing relief from stomach, kidney and liver ailments through the use of the remarkable herbal compound, Dr. French's Nu-Erb. This medicine is known in almost every home throughout Kingston and vicinity, and the Nu-Erb specialist at McBride Drug Store, is constantly talking with local persons who declare that this medicine has helped them even in cases where everything else had failed. As evidence of this, take the recent experience of Mrs. Alizina Pine, 57 Van Buren street, Kingston, N. Y.

"For the past eight years, I have been troubled with severe attacks of indigestion. I'd get miserable pains in my stomach after meals and gas formed in large quantities giving me a distressed feeling which nothing would relieve. I was troubled with heartburn, shortness of breath and my kidneys seemed to be in a weakened condition. My back ached all the time and rheumatism settled in my limbs and joints. I'd get dizzy spells, floating spots seemed to appear before my eyes and I became extremely nervous.

"Nu-Erb has helped me more than anything I have ever used, in fact, it has given me the only relief that I have had from these troubles. In eight years, and as a result of having used this medicine a few weeks, I am feeling better in every way. I am now 76 years of age and I believe that if this wonderful medicine will do so much in my case, it is surely worthy of the confidence of anyone who is suffering from troubles as I did."

Nu-Erb quickly banishes many different forms of rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness and constipation. Its merits lie in a combination of twelve valuable vegetable ingredients. It is perfectly harmless and the results are quickly felt.

McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall St., is headquarters in Kingston for Dr. French's Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

Bridge 1,000 Feet In Air Is To Span Royal Gorge

The Royal Gorge in Colorado is to be spanned by a suspension bridge. Above is an artist's conception of how the bridge will appear. At lower right is shown the depth of the gorge where the span will be swung. George E. Cole (inset) of Houston, Tex., is the designer and contractor.

Canon City, Colo., (AP)—The four towers, two on each side of the famous Royal Gorge of the Arkansas river, near here, is to be spanned by a suspension bridge which will be the highest in the world.

The Royal Gorge has been noted for its famous hanging bridge, one side of which is supported by trusses from the walls of the canyon.

The highest bridge in the world hanging bridge was constructed in France, with height of 485 feet. The highest bridge in the United States is that at Lee's Ferry, in the Grand Canyon. Its height is 464 feet.

The span of the new bridge will be 1,053 feet above the river. It will be 830 feet long, will hang from engineering feats.

Aviation Has Contracted Map Of United States

The saturation point of air lines, a condition already confronting America's highways, will not be realized until we have the spectacle of $9,668 planes operating on 40 levels in the space of a single square mile, according to Earl J. Smith, assistant to the president of the Stinson Aircraft Corporation of Detroit, who will discuss the latest trends in commercial aviation in an address before the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs on November 27, at 6:30 p. m.

New York state ranks first in the Union in the number of business executives who own and operate their own planes and employ air-planes in the transaction of business, Mr. Smith pointed out.

Last year's production of air-planes was 3,500 with 7,000 as the goal for 1930, but it will be at least eight years before the annual production approximates 70,000.

Commercial aviation has caused the map of the United States to shrink to one twenty-second of its size since the days of the pony express in 1850, Mr. Smith declared.

In 1829 a prairie schooner required 180 days to traverse the continent. By 1850 the pony express had cut the time to 26 days. Then came the iron horse, and 68 years later, our crack trains were spanning the continent in 87 hours, which was equivalent to a shrinkage of one-eighth.

"The iron horse acquired wings, and in June, 1929, Captain Frank Hawkes flew from New York to San Francisco in 19 hours, 10 minutes, returning in 17 hours, 58 minutes. Mail planes, traveling on schedule in fair weather or foul, are covering the 2,867 miles in 36 hours.

"Not only have geographical units been reduced in size, but state and international boundaries have been wiped out. Provincialism is making its last stand in America, and it may be possible that our form of government as we have known it since colonial times, will have to be entirely revolutionized, together with our business methods and social habits, with the development of aviation."

Healthy feet—Happy you!

Tux asking foot is a tyrant. You can't be active or happy when your feet protest. But don't be angry with your feet—don't give up hope of finding comfort—before you've slipped on a pair of Cantilevers.

For in Cantilevers your feet can find (perhaps for the first time) comfort, ease, freedom from pains and weariness. Foot specialists say that "Cantilevers help 85% of the common foot troubles." Swollen, hot feet cool down, weak arches grow strong again, walking becomes a pleasure once more.

Cantilever Shoes give flexible and support. They hold the foot without binding or restricting it. Their soles can function with every step—points are cushioned away—

The new fall styles—now on display—are particularly interesting because they show how good looking a comfortable shoe can be.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
New York—Girls of Hunter College are opposed to a new mode. Long skirts, 75 per cent of the 6,000 future teachers say, are impractical, uncomfortable and uneconomical.

New York—There seems to have been a successful revolution against reform. So many of the younger set have been dashing off to night clubs when society ended dances at 11 p.m. that some institutions now test "dancing" at 11 p.m. instead of 10 to 11.

Havana—There are more monkeys on the farms of Min. Rosale Abrera, 19-year-old authority on anthropology, than anywhere else except in their native habitats, and she offers to C. Emerson Brown, former president of the American Association of Zoological Parks, 500 acres of her Havana estate for the establishment of an acclimating and breeding place for rare species for American zoos.

New York—The last English joke that Mayor Walker has heard is a ruse dispatch to a London paper that on official occasions he intends to wear plush and gold robes out-dazzling the lord mayor of London.

New York—Robert Wholforth, an editor, received a personal telephone call from his wife, Mildred Gilman, newspaper writer, who was in Camden, N. J., on the story of Gladys May Parks, charged with killing babies. They chatted about the crime and other matters. Soon the police gave Miss Gilman much trouble to clear herself from suspicion. She is sure a zealous telephone operator listened in and tipped the police.

Detroit—Bigger golf balls and smaller pool balls. The National Billiard Association of America has reduced the diameter from 2 5/16 inches to 2 1/4 inches for the pocket billiards national championship.

Alexandria, Va.—The Washington Society of Alexandria is opposed to Henry Ford's plan to buy an historic colonial home and "transport it like so much merchandise" to his Dearborn, Mich., museum. It regards the plan as an affront to Virginia.

Washington—Senator Robinson has been practicing a good deal with clay pigeons, hoping to startle Britons again with his ability at grouse shooting when he attends the London naval conference. A few years ago his shooting was a sensation in the hunting lodges of Scotland.

Comfort for Plain Women
"There is no such thing as an ugly woman," declares a famous European beauty doctor. "Every woman has some good point which can be brought out and used to hide others."

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritation, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

HUNT MURDER IN PUBLICITY STUNT

"Marquis" Intended to Boost Sale of His Book of Memoirs.

Paris. — With the confession by Henri Boulange that the burial alive and subsequent death of Clement Passal, alias the "marquis de Champanbert," was a publicity stunt intended to publicize the memoirs of the "marquis," just published, the Paris police have been provided with a solution to one of the most bizarre and sensational mysteries in the history of the department.

There still remains, however, a question in the minds of the police whether the bogus burial ended fatally, because some one delayed sending in time the letter which told where the body might be found.

The body of the "marquis" was discovered following the receipt of an anonymous letter by the police in a shallow grave in a wood at Verneuil, near St. Germain, the grave being connected with the outer air by a single pipe. Death had been due to suffocation by carbon dioxide.

Three Others Involved.

The letters which had been received by several friends and by Le Matin, the newspaper, and which gave the location of the grave, were signed by the Knights of Themis, an alleged secret society which was said to have tortured and interred the "marquis" because he refused to tell the whereabouts of a fortune gained by swindling.

Three persons at least are thought to know the details of the scheme besides Boulange. They are Guy Vallette and two men named Bachelier and Durot.

One of these is believed to have been entrusted with the letters to be posted in time to insure Passal's release and the police are now trying to find out whether the delay in mailing the warning was accidental or intentional. It is said that the wife of one of these three men had an affair with the "marquis" and there is some idea that the husband, in revenge, may have deliberately withheld the letter until it was too late.

Witness an Ex-Convict.

According to witnesses found later by the police, Henri Boulange was an ex-convict who lived with Durot and his wife. He said that Passal bought a typewriter expressly for the purpose and prepared all the letters, even those to be mailed after he was buried.

Durot finally admitted that he and Boulange buried Passal and remained with him most of one night, before going into the grave. Passal was an arrow shot to which was a note saying that he was being kidnapped. The two men said they gave Passal water down the tube to the grave and left him early one morning. When they came back they were shocked to get no response from the grave. They gave no explanation as to why they did not immediately dig him up for personal reasons, they decided to leave him there to die. The two men are living in a house which Passal bought at Villennes and the police are trying to learn whether they would gain from the death.

705 Ships Listed as Lost, Junked in 1928

London. — The statistical summary of ships totally lost, broken up, or condemned, published by Lloyd's Register, shows that during 1928 the gross tonnage in the mercantile marine of the world amounted to 705 ships, totaling 1,314,647 tons, excluding all ships of less than 100 tons.

Of this total, 584 ships were steamers or motorships and 121 were sailing vessels.

These figures, compared with those of 1927, show an increase of 367,778 tons as regards steamers and motorships, and a decrease of 45,200 tons for sailing ships. This is not altogether due to actual casualties, but to the fact 783,550 tons were broken up during 1928, as against only 474,677 tons in 1927.

Doctors Find Scissors in Patient's Abdomen

Well for Youngsters, to Learn to Stand Alone

The best thing that can happen to any young person, after receiving sufficient education and technical training, is to be away from home and to stand alone on his or her own feet. Only in this way can young people be sure that they can handle the affairs of life successfully. Not only do they develop a sense of thrift, but with this new-found independence they also come into contact with people, and must learn to make decisions, to use their own judgment, to lessen their errors by learning from previous ones. And, everything being equal, they learn something of understanding and tolerance and sympathy, so much needed today and always. They learn teamwork and co-operation, to take orders and to give them. They learn the joy of labor and the satisfaction of independence. — Rachel Neiswender in the Household Magazine.

Huge Gull Battles Man

While driving a mail truck near Kirkwall, Scotland, recently, James Greig was attacked by a huge seagull. He disturbed the bird while it was devouring a hare in the road. The gull flew on his shoulder and pecked him in the face, and Greig had difficulty in steering the car and warding off the enraged bird which tried to strike his eyes, as gulls do in killing sheep. After a lengthy struggle Greig knocked the gull to the floor, where he held it until he could stop the truck. He then killed it. It measured 5 feet 4 inches from wing to wing.

Chest Clinics In Ulster County

The importance of the early diagnosis of tuberculosis was stressed during 1928 in a nation-wide campaign which will be continued in 1929. Miss Hagelweide, R. N., county tuberculosis nurse, is cooperating with the local health officers in endeavoring to schedule four consultation clinics for diseases of the lungs. If present plans materialize these clinics will be held at convenient places in the county.

The State Department of Health has expressed willingness to cooperate to the extent of furnishing the services of two expert examiners and an X-ray outfit with operator. When arrangements are completed newspaper notices will be printed and physicians will be given admission cards for patients they may wish to refer.

EMERGENCY OPERATION SAVES PLAYER'S LIFE

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 25 (A.P.). — The man whose spectacular catch of a 48-yard pass in the Harvard-Army football game enabled the Crimson to tie the score in the closing minute of play, Victor M. Harding, 21, lay dangerously hurt today at the Stillman Infirmary from injuries received in the Yale game Saturday.

His life was saved by an emergency operation late Saturday night in which a ruptured spleen was removed. Physicians said he would not be out of danger for several days.

Harding, a junior of Hubbardston, Ill., left the game in the fourth quarter in great pain after an apparent kick in the back. Although playing in the game he was awarded a varsity letter and his teammates were to celebrate with a football dinner, he declined to accompany them.

With no outward indication of injury Harding's condition alarmed Dr. Thomas K. Richards, team physician, and he was taken to the infirmary. He was operated on immediately. It was said an hour's delay might have been too late to save his life.

DAYTON AND ROBERTS BROUGHT TO DANEMORA

Morgan Dayton and George Roberts were delivered at Danemora prison Saturday by Under Sheriff Doyle and Deputy Sheriff Constable. Both men will serve short terms in prison for assault. There was a rumor circulated that Morgan Dayton had been released on bail after having been considered of the charge of assault and that he had not been taken to Danemora. This rumor was current in the lower part of the county but was without foundation. Both men were delivered safely into the prison authorities' custody and Dayton will spend from 3 1/2 to 5 years at the prison. Roberts, although convicted on a previous charge, was given but two years in prison.

Children Like this Safe Prescription

Coughs and Sore Throat Relieved Almost Instantly.
Stop children's coughs and sore throats before these ailments lead to dangerous illness. Throat, a doctor's prescription, now assures relief within 15 minutes to children as well as adults without the danger in the use of patent medicines containing harmful drugs.
Throatine works on a different principle, goes direct to the source of trouble and relieves the irritation which causes the coughing and sore throat. Ideal for children because it is safe and does not have the usual "nasty-medicine" taste. No gargling. Just ask for Throatine, put up ready for use in 25c., 50c., and $1.00 bottles. Money back if not relieved. Sold by Kingston Central Pharmacy and all other good drug stores.

The sign up for the gym class at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evenings has not yet been large enough to warrant starting the course. Any woman or girl interested in such a class should sign up at the Y at once.

Thursday:
Y. W. C. A. closed. Thanksgiving Day.

Friday:
9—Grade school basketball.
11:30—Tri-Mill Girl Reserve Club hike and luncheon.
7—Schubert Choral Club.

Saturday:
10—Blue Birds' Girl Reserve Club.
1—Grade school basketball.

Chinese Prepare to Add
"Law of Things" to Code
Shanghai.—Work is being continued on the drafting of a Chinese civil code the last addition in preparation being the "Law of Things," which is said to correspond to the occidental law of property. It is being drafted by the law-drafting committee of the legislative yuan, one of the five branches of the Nanking government.
The new law is to form the third book of the Chinese civil code, the first two books being General Principles and the Law of Obligations.
The third volume is to be modeled after the new German civil code, with such provisions as are thought necessary due to the special conditions and customs prevailing in China.

Honor Ericsson
Stockholm.—In memory of Capt. John Ericsson, Swedish inventor of the "Monitor," a new street in Stockholm will be named for him. The suggestion to honor thus the name of the Civil War hero originated with the Stockholm branch of the American John Ericsson society.

SEEKING TO DECODE
OLDEST OF SECRETS

Experts Study Writing on Ancient Brick.
Paris.—A small gray brick with enigmatic markings is being studied by the leading archaeologists of France. The brick is from Has Shamra, a kingdom that existed 3,000 years ago, and the markings are a hand-written message of its king.
Older than any existing specimen of handwriting out of Egypt, Crete or China, the brick is a puzzle to the men who read hieroglyphs as easily as detective stories. Charles Virolleaud, who has undertaken deciphering of the message, asserts that it is the oldest secret in existence.
The brick was brought to France recently from Syria where the Has Shamra excavations are in progress. Virolleaud has taken it into his study and, figuratively, locked himself in. He said he hoped to have a solution, or at least, a theory by December.
Alphabet of Twenty Six Signs.
Preliminary examinations disclose that the alphabet of the country had 26 signs and were related to the Babylonian in that they were cuneiform. Each word contains three or four signs and the words are separated from each other by a deeply etched vertical line. The writing covers both sides of the brick.
Asked how he would proceed to solve the problem, Virolleaud said: "I will start with some plausible hypothesis. I will assume, let us say, that the brick contains a message either written by the king of Has Shamra, or written to him by the monarch of a neighboring realm. Deciphered, the brick may reveal the existence of a civilization the world has never heard of before."
Luck May Help.
"Further specimens of this writing, which will undoubtedly be unearthed as the excavations continue, will light on the task which for the moment is extremely difficult and a total mystery. The presence of one Greek word, a hieroglyph, a Phoenician word and the task would be simple.
"The belief that the brick is a royal document is confirmed somewhat by the presence of a proper name at the top of the inscription. The name is Aka-Hiani. The title has disappeared, the tablet being broken at this point. The document, if it can be so-called, is made more interesting by the fact that it is not written in Babylonian which was the diplomatic language of that era.
"Luck, that god of archaeologists and newspaper men, often operates in our favor. Among the inscriptions discovered in Syria and now on the way to Paris there is a Babylonian text which may help us find out who Aka-Hiani was."
Indiana has 18 airports classed as "adequate" or better.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Nov. 25 (State Department of Agriculture and Markets).—Receipts of celery were generous from New York and the Pacific Coast states today. The demand was moderately active, especially on fancy stock, and the market as a whole held steady. Western New York celery, in the rough, packed in two-thirds crates, wholesaled at $2-$2.50 for the best, and $2.25 to $2.75 for the poorer. Pacific Coast celery, in large crates, ranged from $4 to $7.50, mainly $5-$6. During the preceding week, celery receipts filled 142 cars, of which 92 were contributed by our own state.

The price trend on state cabbage was upward in a firmer market. Supplies were moderate and trading fair. White, Danish type cabbage, in bulk, peddled out on the basis of mainly $35 to $38 per ton. South Carolina, white cabbage, of the pointed variety, packed in one and one-half bushel hamper, sold at $1.25 to $1.50, occasionally $1.65. Of the 95 carloads of cabbage received on this market last week, New York state furnished 51 cars.

Western New York offerings of carrots were moderate. The undertone of the market was slightly firmer, with the demand a trifle more active, particularly on attractive quality stock. Jobbing business on the downtown piers was transacted at $1.25 to $1.50 per 100-pound sack.

Price changes on western New York apples were small and mainly poor. The demand was moderate and the market held steady. Most such fruit wholesaled at $3 per barrel. Rhode Island Greenings of the same grade and size brought from $7 to $8 and various other varieties realized from $4 to $7.

Arrivals of yellow onions were light from this state, but moderate from the middle west. The market was firmer on fancy, and values averaged higher. One hundred pound sacks of fair quality yellow onions, of fair quality changed hands at $1.75-$2, while fancy changed hands at $2.15. Onions received from the New York market during the previous week amounted to 75 cars, while the imports from Spain were equivalent to 32 cars.

The demand for white potatoes moderate. The market was steady with prices about unchanged. Liberal supplies were on hand at most terminals.

RUSSIANS SUCCESSFULLY INVADING MANCHURIA

Tokyo, Nov. 25 (AP).—Russian troops invading Manchuria have met with exceptional successes and today apparently were in complete control of the entire section of the province west of the Khingan Mountains.

Khalhar, most important westerly city, fell late yesterday to a force of Soviet cavalry and tanks. Harbin dispatches to the Japanese news agency Renzo said. Chinese losses were estimated to have been as high as 12,000.

INTERESTING EVENTS AT MALDEN GRAVE

Malden, Mass., Nov. 25 (AP).—Official investigation by the Roman Catholic Church of events at the grave of the Rev. Patrick J. Power, scene of the pilgrimages of tens of thousands of people and hundreds of cases of reported miraculous healing during the past five weeks, is to begin today.

Ending one of the great religious demonstrations in the history of the country, Holy Cross cemetery, site of the grave, was closed last night except to funerals by order of William Cardinal O'Connell, archbishop of Boston. The third throng of 100,000 during the last three weeks journeyed to the grave yesterday. A week ago 100,000 came.

ROAD TO GET OUT THE SNOW FLOWS AT SARANAC LAKE

Saranac Lake, Nov. 25 (AP).—A five-inch snowfall during the night put a finishing touch to the zero weather which gripped this resort section late last week. Snow plows were placed in action on village streets but trunk highways remained passable without use of such equipment.

Oyster Supper and Dance.

The annual oyster supper and dance will be held at I. O. O. F. Hall, Olive Bridge, on Wednesday evening, November 27. The Night Hawk orchestra of Kingston will furnish music for dancing. A good time is promised all that attend.

PARACHUTE JUMP AGAIN POSTPONED.

Due to "low ceiling" the parachute jump and wing walking stunts at the local aviation field were again postponed Sunday afternoon. Last week rain prevented the program being carried out and bad flying conditions caused a second postponement. A Curtis Robin plane, of the same type as the St. Louis Robin which made a sustained flight record of 420 hours, was on hand to go aloft but conditions made it impossible to get the plane to a sufficient altitude. The parachute jump was to be made by Sid Lane of this city and Eddie DeAlamo was to do some wing walking stunts. If weather conditions are suitable the stunts will be carried out next Sunday afternoon beginning at 3 o'clock. This program is being sponsored by the D. Kantrowitz clothing house of North Front street.

Many Accidents in October.

Albany, Nov. 25 (AP).—Industrial Commissioner Frances Perkins today announced industrial accidents for October reached 50,618, one of the largest reports for a single month. The New York city district reported 31,376 accidents listing on the workmen's compensation calendars for the district more than 32,000 claims.

and Commercial

New York, Nov. 25 (AP)—Stock
prices showed a distinctly reactionary tendency today as five-hour sessions were resumed. Prices of many leading stocks broke 2 to nearly 12 points
during the morning, but brisk recoveries took place in many cases
when it became apparent that the decline was not causing any extensive liquidation of either investment or speculative holdings. Trading was relatively dull, with the ticker keeping fairly well abreast of the market.
Call money renewed unchanged at 4 1/2 per cent, but the rate was again shaded in the outside market. An easy undertone developed in other monetary markets. Business news generally was favorable. Wall Street was pleased at the response to President Hoover's efforts to stimulate business, and to reports that pre-holiday trade in the New York department stores was in large volume.

General Electric dropped 11 points
and snapped back 7 1/2 before it met a fresh flood of offerings. Air reduction dropped 7 1/2 points. United States Industrial Alcohol 8 1/2.
Standard Gas and Electric 8. A. M.
Hays 7 and Johns Manville 6. All rebounced 4 points or more on the lifting of selling pressure, only to encounter renewed selling in mid-afternoon.

Detroit Edison fell 1 1/2. National Cash Register, Westinghouse Electric, Simmons Co., American and Foreign Power and American Machine and Foundry all sold down 5 points or more.

International Match Preferred
rallied 3 1/2 points on the announcement of an increased dividend.
Peoples Gas and Louisville and Nashville also recorded good gains.

Cricket Not Locked On*as Friend by Farmer

"When the cricket on the hearth goes 'chirp, chirp, chirp' it has a romantic sound about it, but one is too easily led to slide over the important word in this refrain from an old song, the 'chirp' taken in large numbers the cricket is not only a pest in the house but out in the fields a downright destructive menace, says
the Washington Star.

In the Imperial valley of California
crickets have been known to go so far as completely to wipe out a field of cotton, while in many cases only a stand of 10 per cent of the plants has matured. Replanting is frequently necessary, where the crickets are plentiful, and their diet is by no means limited to cotton. Give a cricket most any tender, green foliage, tender stem
or other succulent vegetable matter
and he will accept of your hospitality
without even hinting to be bidden.

If you like him as a soloist and consider the chirping of a cricket as a sign of good luck, be sure that it is the fact that it is a cricket that makes the performance pleasing. In full chorus assembled, they set up a din that transforms a quiet hearth
to a madhouse of noise.

Early Church Literally*Made House of Refuge

Days when the church was a refuge in time of danger from the foe of the faith, rather than a spiritual sanctuary, are recalled by Dr. William Norman Guthrie in an article in the Churchman.

"The invasion of the barbarians in Spain and France," he writes, "broke the tradition for western Europe. The church was not, from the eighth to the twelfth century, a judgment hall of Christ, but rather a stronghold and a communal mart and assembly, and lastly a sanctuary for those who fled from what passed for feudal justice.
The stern, dark Carolingian church
still surviving at the core of Mont St.
Michel was never meant for a pleasant, festive assembly place. It for worship and mystic exaltation. It was primarily for bodily safety. Its massive walls, its stout barrel vault, bespoke the refuge in time of danger."
Detroit News.

Used to It

The night was dark and the howl
late as a solitary wayfarer passed along the deserted street. Was it deserted, though? No!—three shuffling figures emerged from the shadows, marked their prey, and then attacked him.

Three to one is powerful odds, but the wayfarer held his own. One by one his assailants landed with a thud
on the ground, battered and bruised,
their clothing torn.

A policeman hurried up and surveyed the wreckage.
"Fine work!" he said, addressing the hero, who was calmly lighting a cigarette. "Ju-jitsu?"

"No," answered the other. "Railroad porter."—Pearson's Weekly.

Grand and Glorious

"Next to finding a wadded paper dollar in the job pocket of an old pair of trousers, I doubt if there's a grander feeling in the world than havin' a fine, well-established son.—Abe Martin
in Farm and Fireside.

Irrigation

Raising Water by Shadoof for Irrigation in Egypt.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.) IRRIGATION, to increase crops or make them possible, is a worldwide procedure. But the ways in which the priceless water is gotten on to the soil in various parts of the world varies from the primitive gourd dipped by hand, to the costly engineering project.

While American farmers on hitherto arid areas of the West are having their water delivered to them for irrigation purposes, Chinese farmers, known the world over for raising from one to four crops a year on their less-than-an-acre plots, are still using devices which antedate the windmill by many centuries.

The Chengtu plains of Szechwan province are dotted with huge water wheels which resemble the Ferris wheels at state fairs. However, a ride on a Chengtu irrigator would be a bit damp, for water cups and pipes occupy the space where seats would be if the wheel were in an amusement park.

As the wheel turns the cups dip water from the canal. When the containers reach the level of the field, the water is discharged into a trough.
Neighboring farmers whose plots appear as productive as those of the owners of water wheels often have no visible means of lifting water to their fields, but inside one of their thatched huts a blindfolded cow, or ox or horse, is wearing a circular path around a large wheel which performs the work.

In Chihli province, even within sight of Peking, farmers irrigate their farms largely by foot power. One device consists of a long open trough
with one end in the canal and the other on the edge of the farm. Three or four Chinese boys tread spokes extending from a hub which, revolving, causes a chain with loose boards attached to push water from the canal through the trough until it reaches the field.

Something Like a Windmill

Perhaps the nearest oriental approach to the windmill is the pumping apparatus used at the salt works at Taku, near Tientsin, China. It resembles the framework of a huge cycinder with eight vertical sails, about 6 by 10 feet. Because at least one of the sails is always in the wind, this type of pump, though crude compared with the expensive windmills of Europe, is almost constantly working.

Japan's foot pump is a one-man affair. Instead of treading "spokes" the Japanese farmers tread the paddles of the irrigating wheel.
Korean farmers are content with their spoonlike scoops, which are tied to tripods placed on the bank of a stream. When the scoop is filled with water it is hoisted to the field and emptied.

The "cradle irrigator" is also a popular device among the Koreans. This is a long trough on a narrow rim of earth between the water and the field.
When the cradle is dipped into the water, it is so balanced that one man can scoop it until several gallons of water gush on the farm.

African water supply systems range from gourd carried on the heads of native women to the great Aswan dam
which controls the Nile flood waters.
Drifting down the Nile, however, the traveler sees several interesting contrivances used by the natives to augment the natural irrigation of the Nile valley.

The shadoof, the most commonly used device, consists of a wooden "B,"
the uprights of which are driven deep into the river bank. On the cross-bar between the uprights a long pole is balanced. The end over the water bears a reed basket, while on the other end a clod of mud acts as a counterbalance.

Now and then one sees an ancient Archimedes screw. This device resembles a cross section of the smokestack of the Nile river steamer. An augurlike lower segment raises water from the river and discharges it on the river bank in much the same manner as a carpenter's auger discharges whittlings from a hole in a board.
The Persian wheel wheel resembles wheels used in our northwestern states

until the early part of this century.
On the sites of several western irrigation projects water wheels, similar to paddle wheels on Ohio river boats, pumped water for irrigation purposes.
In remote districts, some of the old wheels are still in operation.

Among the Indians of the West, the tribal womenfolk still carry water jars on their heads in much the same manner as the natives of central Africa.

Irrigation has greatly developed the drier parts of India. The greatest recent development is on Indus river.

Unlike the famous Aswan dam across the Nile and such well-known American structures as the Elephant Butte, Roosevelt and Pathfinder dams,
the heart of the Indus irrigation system is a barrage, not a dam. Both barrages and dams work toward the same end: to help get river water on the land; but they go about it in somewhat different ways.

The barrage is a low dam, over or through which the water continues to flow. Its function is to raise and keep the water at a certain height so that part of it will run off into canals on the river banks. The remainder goes tumbling over the barrage and on down the river bed. The barrage is, in a word, a colossal elder brother to the diversion weir that turn water
from main canals into minor channels.
The dam, on the other hand, is primarily a storage structure that creates a great reservoir in which the entire river flow for much of the year is held captive until the dry season when it is needed in the valleys below. Then the stored water is fed out through sluices.

Biggest Barrage in World

The Indus barrage, built near Sukkur in the Sind, is the greatest barrage in the world, both in length—almost a mile—and in the amount of water diverted. Seven canals will flow out on the level created by the new structure and will furnish water estimated to be enough to irrigate six million acres of land now barren.

This is a region greater than the entire area of Massachusetts.
Two of the canals on the right bank of the river will be wider than the Suez canal, and one of the waterways on the left bank will be nearly half as broad again. The remaining channels will be narrower, but will carry mighty streams themselves.

Among existing irrigation structures,
the Aswan dam across the Nile is often pointed to as the greatest. In point of length it probably is, since it is one and a quarter miles from abutment to abutment. Its 146 feet of height, however, is overtopped by at least five American irrigation dams—
Arrowrock, Idaho, 349 feet; Shoshone, Wyoming, 323; Elephant Butte, New Mexico, 306; Roosevelt, Arizona, 280,
and Pathfinder, Wyoming, 218.

In the matter of the amount of water impounded, world honors among artificial reservoirs should probably go to the Elephant Butte dam, across the Rio Grande river in New Mexico.
Such measurements are best made in the number of acres the water would cover one foot deep. The capacity of the Elephant Butte reservoir is more than 350,000 acre feet greater than that created by the Aswan dam.

Lake Erie Troublesome

Lake Erie is exceedingly shallow, and the low, clayey or sandy shores
are liable to erosion by waves, created by severe storms, which may wash
from one place and deposit in another the sand with which the water is occasionally filled. The shoaling renders continuous dredging necessary at every harbor on the lake west of Erie, Pa. There is also an annual succession in the lake level, and heavy storms, appearing when the lake is at its height, have a very drastic effect.

About the Folks

Dr. Louis Hagel is out of town. He will return on November 29.

Mrs. Joseph Duggan was removed from 25 East Union street to the Kingston Hospital in the ambulance on Saturday.

William O'Connor of New York, supervisor over salesmen in the states of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont for the Mohawk Carpet Mills of Amsterdam, is visiting in town. Mr. O'Connor is a graduate of Fordham University and wears a gold nugget, engraved, having been a three-letter man on the Fordham baseball and football teams and runner-up in the relay race when Fordham took honors from the New York University runners, breaking the time record. Frankie Frisch, well-known baseball player, also wears a three-letter gold nugget, presented at the time Mr. O'Connor received his.

Odds and Ends

St. James Men's Club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock. Assemblyman Millard Davis will address the meeting.

There will be a dance in St. Ann's
Hall, Sawkill, Wednesday evening, November 27. The public is invited.

Abavath Israel Auxiliary will hold a dance in the Downtown Jewish Community Center, 97 Broadway,
Tuesday evening.

Every member of the Girls'
Friendly Society of the Holy Cross Church is asked to be present at the meeting to be held Tuesday evening.

Masons and friends are invited to patronize the dance to be held at Masonic Club Hall, 635 Broadway, Wednesday night. Paul Zucca's orchestra will furnish music.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars
card party will be held at Joyce-Schrick Post Dugout, East Chestnut street, tonight at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served. A cordial welcome is extended to the public.

Weiner Hose Costume Ball will be held at White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, Wednesday night, November 27, with music by Malsenheider's Commanders. Twelve costume prizes will be awarded, six to men and six to the ladies.

The Catholic Daughters of America will hold a rummage sale in the store at East Strand and Hasbrouck avenue on November 27, 29, and 30.
Articles are solicited. Those who cannot deliver them may call 3365
and they will be called for.

MEN'S MISSION OPENS*SUCCESSFULLY AT ST. MARY'S

The men's mission at St. Mary's Church successfully opened Sunday night when one of the largest congregations of men that ever were present in the church taxed its capacity. Every pew had its quota of five men, while extra seats were placed in the chancel.

There will be services this week
every evening at 8 o'clock and every morning at 5:30 and 7 o'clock. The mission is being conducted by the Paulist Fathers of New York city, who, speak on topics of interest not alone to Catholics but non-Catholics who are invited to attend.

Last week a ladies' mission was held at St. Mary's. It was brought to a close Sunday afternoon when the church was filled.

COLORS CHURCHES IN*THANKSGIVING DAY UNION

Shandaken, Nov. 25.—The funeral service of Dennis Hughes, formerly of this place, who died recently at Andes, N. Y., was held in the M. E.
Church on Saturday, the Rev. C. E.
Hewitt officiating.

Phoenicia, Nov. 25 (AP)—Mrs. E.
Short died Friday at the Benedictine Hospital after a long, painful illness.
She was a lovely person, of sweet personality. Sympathy is extended to her bereaved ones.

Funeral services for Alfred H.
Schoonmaker of Ulster Park were held from the family home Sunday afternoon. The Rev. Ralph H.
Beaumont, pastor of the Reformed Church of Hopewell officiated. There was a very large number of beautiful floral pieces. Interment was in Pleasant View cemetery, Ulster Park.
Bearers were David Terpinen, Clinton Holstein, Ralph Wells and Everett Soper, Jr.

Funeral services for August Graf
of the Plank road were held at St.
Paul Lutheran Church, Hasbrouck
avenue, Saturday at 2:15 by the Rev.
Carl A. Romoser, pastor. They were largely attended and there was a profusion of beautiful flowers. Herman LaTour sang two solos. Interment was in Montrose cemetery.
Bearers were Fred Scholl, Joseph
Smith, John J. Tonaskey, James F.
Smith, Mathias Zellmer and Charles Andres. Friday night the Elks conducted a service at the Graf home.

The funeral of John Bordenstein was held from his late home in Whiteport Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock and at the Bloomington Church at 2:30, where funeral services were conducted by the Rev. C.
V. W. Bedford. The services were largely attended by his many friends and neighbors. The bearers were Charles Thielemann, John Bove, John Doyle, Ransen Krum, Edward Richter, Robert Van Eitaa. Interment was in the family plot in Bloomington Cemetery, where the committee
services were in charge of the Rev.
Mr. Bedford.

The funeral of John H. Krum, who died on Thursday last as the result of a fall while working on the Governor Clinton Hotel addition, was held from the funeral parlors of James J. Halloran, 44 Broadway, this morning at 9 o'clock, thence to the Church of the Holy Cross, where at 9:30 a Mass of requiem was offered by the Rev. R. S. Hornby. There were a number of beautiful floral offerings from sorrowing relatives and friends. Out of respect for their departed fellow worker and employee, Frank Campbell, the general contractor, suspended all work and a number of the employees attended the funeral. The casket bearers were Hugh McCullough, Ned Corkery, Fred Van Steenburgh, Henry Buins, Frank Miller and George Uhl. The Rev. R. S. Hornby accompanied the cortege to Wiltwyck Cemetery and conducted the committal service at the grave as the body was laid to rest in the family plot.

Would Build More Federal Roads

Washington, Nov. 25 (AP)—Chairman Dowell of the House Roads Committee announced today he would seek an increase from $75-000,000 to $125,000,000 in the annual authorization for Federal highway aid for the fiscal years 1931 and 1932 in response to President Hoover's plea for a general movement over the country for expansion of road building programs.

Miss Woerner Improving

At the Kingston Hospital today it was stated that the condition of Miss Lillian Woerner of West Union street, was much improved. Miss Woerner sustained a fracture of the skull in an auto accident at Rhinebeck recently.

Society Notes

Under the chairmanship of Mr.
Henry Wood, head of the Girls'
Friendly Society of St. John's Church, the young ladies will hold their annual Tea Dance at the Park House on Albany avenue on Saturday afternoon of this week. Zebra's ex-chestra will furnish music and there will be delicious home-made sandwiches and cake served with the assacraon tea.

Grave-Alshemer.

Phoenicia, Nov. 25.—Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. C.
J. Gross, who were married Friday. Both are popular young people of this place. The bride, who was Miss Alma Alshemer, has a host of friends who join in extending their best wishes.

Wilson-Forman.

At two o'clock a quiet Thanksgiving-time wedding was solemnized at the home of the First Presbyterian Church, when Miss Marion Forman, daughter of Mrs. Nellie M. Forman of Elmendorf street and Paul A.
Wilson of Memphis, Tenn., were united in marriage by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Margaret Forman,
sister of the bride as maid of honor,
and Wesley Finger of this city brother-in-law of the bride. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother on Elmendorf street. After their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs.
Wilson will make their home in this city until the first of the year.

SHANDAKEN.

Shandaken, Nov. 25.—The Knights of the King met on Friday evening at the church hall. The class has purchased a set of band instruments and soon Shandaken will have a band.
After much business was transacted
the class sat down to a very delicious roast beef supper. Those present were: Theron E. Townsend, president of the class; W. C. Hummel, Sherman Knight, Charles Dunham, Alfred Harbig, William Harbig, Edward West, Willard Gulick, C. E.

Hummel Dunham, James S

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

Master of Memory

I have a friend who prides himself on a certain quick memory which enables him to remember telephone numbers. He can remember any person's telephone number, when he has heard it once. And this is not idle boasting on his part, as I have seen him demonstrate his ability many times.

The other day I dropped in at a store with him while he bought a new hat.

"What hat?" asked the clerk.

"I don't know," replied my friend. "Seven, or seven and one-half, or seven and one-quarter. Somewhere around there."

Sam Fife

In the old days of vaudeville, a logging act was sponsored by the cry: "Go into your dance!" It meant that a comedian's lines weren't getting over very well, and a dance was a sure-fire way of getting out of difficulty. Nowadays, when whole choruses do more difficult steps than the mighty paid specialty dancers of former days, some other life-saver must be found.

As a matter of fact, two life-savers have been found. One is for the performer to interrupt whatever he is doing, fall on one knee and yell "Sonny Boy-y-y!" It never fails to bring down the house.

The other method is to speak Yiddish. Somehow, New York vaudeville audiences rock with laughter at hearing that ancient and honorable tongue, and it is employed every week at the Palace.

The other day Lon Holtz sang out a phrase or two. Nearly everybody laughed. Then, so that the others might laugh too, he stepped to the edge of the orchestra pit and said:

"For the benefit of the four or five people from out of town, I will explain what I said. I said 'I'll take the same.' You paid your money to get in here, and you're entitled to know all that's going on."

The Big Kick

There are all sorts of practical jokes, but the latest one I heard of is the man who somewhere bought an explosive golf ball. He started out for a round with a friend. The friend stepped up an old ball. The practical joker said:

"You can't play with me with a ball that old. Take this new one."

When the clubbed met the ball there was a loud explosion. That is supposed to be the big kick in the joke. It meant two extra rounds at the nineteenth hole.

A Sick Man

Douglas Fairbanks the energetic moving picture star, has always been an outstanding pattern of pep even when he was supposed to be sick. Years ago, before he entered the movies, he was in the Lamb's club one day and was asked to appear in a benefit. He complained that he could not undertake to do it because he felt rotten and was going home to bed. On the way out of the club he ran over a piano. If it had been one of his good days, he probably would have vaulted right over the first floor of the Lamb's club.

Pure Luck

Sometimes I have a suspicion that our great financial geniuses are not so smart, after all. It is a great comfort to think that millionaires are not wizards, but simply lucky. Such a relief permits me to think that I, too, may some day make a killing in Wall Street.

One of the most satisfying anecdotes concerns a financial genius who telephoned his broker to buy 2,000 shares of something or other. The order was executed immediately. Ten minutes later the financial genius again telephoned his broker, and he was, to say the least, distressed.

"I've made a ghastly mistake," he gasped. "Something or other is not so stock I intended to buy. I don't care where it is now. Sell it at the market."

This order, too, was executed on the spot. Twenty minutes after the brokerage firm had started buying something or other for its customer, all of that stock had again been sold. The net profit was $12,000. This particular stock had long remained quiet, and when all the stock gamblers saw an order for 2,000 shares placed, they figured that something was about to happen. So many of them got in on the deal, and the stock went up.

His Desire for Sole

Place in Sun Costs $20

Providence, Mass.—The desire for a place in the sun cost Frank Vlast 200 in court here. It has long been Frank's daily custom to sit at the corner of Franklin and Tremont streets for a sun bath.

On a recent day, Antonio Caruso, who is blind, chose the sunny street corner as a nice place to bask in the sun.

"Here, move out. You're keeping the sun from me," Frank complained.

Antonio refused to budge and the conflict that followed led to court.

Scout's Open Funeral Home

Lorraine T. Scudder, who has been successful with the undertaking business in this city for several years, recently passed the state examination for funeral director, given at Poughkeepsie High School, and has opened a funeral home at 35 Livingston

World's Largest Tree

The following are the dimensions of the Biale tree, which is said to be the largest tree in the world: Diameter at the ground standing, 35 feet; diameter at right angles to the tree at level with the upper side, 31 feet; diameter above knots, twigs or boughs at 16 feet high, 23 feet; diameter at first limb, 12 1/2 feet (at 14 feet) height, 20 1/2 feet. M. A. Backwith who prepared a set of tables on all the famous "largest in the world" trees, figures from the diameter of the Biale tree, where it is broken off at the top, that it once rose probably 220 feet high.

Father of Basket Ball

The game basket ball was invented and developed by Dr. James Naismith for many years athletic director of the University of Kansas. In 1891 when he was an assistant athletic director at Springfield, Mass., it was suggested to Doctor Naismith that there should be a game suitable for the indoor development of athletes who had played football all fall. Basket ball was the result and by 1893 there was a book of rules and competition was being developed.

Invented Acoustic Tiles

The late Emma Berliner was the inventor of the "acoustic cement cell." Mr. Berliner had studied ball acoustics for years. He observed that an auditorium that has wooden walls has superior acoustics, while the cause of bad acoustics frequently is the rigidity of walls. It was this theory that the inventor developed in the acoustic tiles. These are composed of porous cement and yet have the resonance of wood. They are the fruit of more than 20 years of research.

Leave for Legion Rally at 7 Tonight

The state president of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Williams, will be one of the speakers at the big American Legion rally which will be held in Northway Hall, Ellenville, tonight, which many Legionnaires and Auxiliary members of Ulster county will attend.

Erne's orchestra, of this city, will play for dancing which will follow the meeting.

Cars will leave the American Legion Memorial Building tonight at 7 o'clock. All those desiring to go to Ellenville are asked to be there at that time.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES WILL BE HELD AT HURLEY

Thanksgiving and preparatory services will be conducted by the Rev. J. B. Stokette at the Hurley Reformed Church on Wednesday, November 27, at 7:30 p. m. The offering will be for the Industrial Home of this city. The consistory will meet after the services. Communion services will be held next Sunday.

Riches

Consider what you have in the smallest chosen library. A company of the wisest and wildest men that could be picked out of all civil countries, in a thousand years, have set in best order the results of their learning and wisdom. The men themselves were hid and inaccessible, solitary, impatient of interruption, fenced by etiquette; but the thought which they did not uncover to their bosom friend is here written out in transparent words to us, the strangers of another age.—Emerson, in "Books."

Yellow Jackets Run Up 13-0 Score Against Merrians

The Yellow Jackets whitewashed the highly touted Watervliet Merrians, 13-0, at the Kingston Fair Grounds Sunday afternoon and proved to a small gathering of fans that this city has a representative eleven capable of mixing it with any semi-pro outfit in the state.

A muddy field handicapped the players, while a cold damp wind made it disagreeable for the onlookers. However, the teams did their best to give plenty of action to the fans, who enjoyed every minute of the contest and are set to give the Yellow Jackets their support for future games, especially the Thanksgiving Day tilt with the Schenectady Royals.

A spirit of confidence marked the makeup of the husky Merrians as they took the field for practice and a warmup. The upstarts were punctual in arriving and once they got to exercising themselves in preparation for the game the Watervliet men showed up like real championship material. Rooters who followed them here were loud in forecasting what their idols would do to the Yellow Jackets.

Hoffman Scores Touchdown
The Yellow Jackets came to kick off, so Beany did the trick by booting the ball deep into the Merrians' territory. The upstarts punted back to Kingston. Alternating in advancing the ball, the Yellow Jacket backs landed it on their 45 yard line. They punted. The Merrians had the oval but a short time when they lost it on a fumble near the 20 yard line. The Jackets on a pass over the line. Hoffman to Beany, placed the ball within a yard of the goal line. Captain Hoffman then dived over the line for the first touchdown. Beany failed to kick the extra point.

Svirsky Boosts Tally.
After going through a tough second quarter and a tougher third, during which they held the Merrians on their one-yard line and prevented them from scoring, the Yellow Jackets recorded a second touchdown. Vince Rice, Kingston's right end, intercepted a Merrian forward pass on his own 30 yard line. He was on the receiving end of a pass from Beany that brought the ball to the Yellow Jackets eight-yard line. Svirsky took the oval on the next play and smashed his way through for Kingston's second touchdown. The after-touchdown point was scored on a forward from Beany to Stumpf, who took Jole Hoffman's place in the last quarter after the local team's captain had been injured.

The Lineups:

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould.
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

You hear a lot about Notre Dame spirit, manifested by courageous qualities on the field, by emotional influence, and, above all, by a victorious tradition.

There is no question but that it exists, just as there is no doubt that its source is Knute K. Rockne, whether this born scrapper and leader is on the field or on his back.

This observer found potent evidence of the "Fighting Irish" as well as "Fighting German" and "Fighting Scandinavian" spirit at the training table, in Rockne's quarters and on the field where Notre Dame whipped Southern California.

They tell you that the appeal of Rockne is in memory of the great George Gipp inspired Notre Dame, thrice beaten, to go out and defeat West Point with a sensational exhibition last year.

At Chicago, the boys went out to beat the Trojans "for Rock" after a stirring dressing room scene between halves. The youths who play football for Notre Dame not only regard Rockne as the greatest of all coaches but as the man who counsels and shapes their destinies. If "Rock" tells them, or Tom Lieb tells them on Rock's behalf that they can do certain things on the gridiron, that's all there is to it. They act as though it is a fact before it is proved; or, rather, that proof is merely incidental. Any other team but Notre Dame, convinced of its own destiny, might have cracked under the series of adverse "breaks" in the game with Southern California.

At South Bend, they regard Frank Cardone as even better now than Harry Stuhldreher, who piloted the famous Four Horsemen; not that Cardone has a better "quarterback brain" but that he is more rugged and can do more things with the ball. Cardone can run as well as pass and kick. He is a flash on returning punts and he is a fine blocker. "Cardone is so good now that I hate to think how good he will be next season," an Army coach said to me after seeing the game at Chicago in preparation for the battle in New York, November 30.

"He knows the game beautifully; in fact, there aren't any flaws visible to the naked eye anywhere in the Notre Dame lineup. It is a better team than the Army, as it looked against Southern California, but Cagle and the rest of our boys will give 'em a real fight."

The ubiquitous Panther dodger, Octavius Tobias Cana, of McKees Rocks, Pa., comes close to being the outstanding ball carrier of the year, so far as broken field running is concerned. Toby has made more long jaunts for touchdowns than Booth, Cagle, Lom, Elder, Glasgow, Leland, Banker, McBrer or any of the other climax performers. Cana was almost the whole show in Pitt's overwhelming victories over Ohio State and Carnegie.

TRIM FLEISCHMANN'S, 38-22

Spinny's Radio Five invaded Fleischmann's Saturday night and handed the mountaineers a 38-22 trimming. Despite a slippery floor the teams put up a fast and interesting battle.

The regular Thursday night game at Pythian Hall, Fort Evers, this week, will be between the Spinny team and the Saengerics Community Five. A preliminary will be put on by the Fort Evers Men's Club and Hebrew-Americans.

Y. M. H. A. WILL HOLD PRACTICE TONIGHT.

The Y. M. H. A. quintet will hold a practice session tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Downtown Jewish Community Center. Every member of the team is asked to be present to prepare for a hard struggle.

Tonight at Salvation Army Hall, North Front street, the Salvation Junior League basketball games will be as follows:
V. F. W. Juniors vs. Hebrew-Americans.
Shooting vs. Wesley M. E. of East Kingston.

THE FIRST GAME WILL START AT 7:30.

YELLOW JACKETS

WILL MEET TONIGHT.

The Yellow Jackets will hold a meeting in the American Legion Memorial Building on West O'Reilly street tonight at 7:30. Important business will be transacted, especially concerning Thanksgiving Day's game with the Schenectady Royals.

No. 1 member of the squad is asked to be present. Tickets for the game can be procured at Boy's club store on Fair street or at Fitz-Gerald's haberdashery on central Broadway.

Happy Days of Umpire Recalled by Veteran

"Ever since 'Steamboat' Johnson went into the Southern association as an umpire, fans have wondered why he always takes his money and jewelry on the field with him.

The thing is a mystery no longer. Steamboat is merely practicing safety first. Like the soldier who goes forth to war, he never knows whether he will get back to his home base—in this case his dressing room.

"Once," said Steamboat, "I did not get back. I went straight from the ball park to the jail. Incidentally, I spent the night therein."

"It was in Des Moines and on a Fourth of July, too. The home team was trailing, 1 to 0, and there were two out and a runner on third in the last of the ninth."

"The 'atman hit to short and the fielder threw to the plate in time to get the runner. I tried to be pleasant, as is my custom, and said, 'The game is over, boys, let's go home to supper.' This was my way of calling the runner out."

Johnson's face and head are covered by marks left by flying pop bottles.

"The boys don't throw 'em like they used to," he noted. "Umpiring is getting to be a real delight. Sometimes, though, I miss the old days. But don't put that in the paper. The wolves might wake up and start throwing bottles again."

Hack Wilson's Bat Was Loyal to Him in Pinch

Hack Wilson, the bat breaker with the Chicago Cubs, may never get a job prophesying after his playing days are over, because the prophet business isn't so good nowadays. But if he does, he ought to make a good one.

In the Pacific Coast spring series between the Cubs and Pirates one year, Hack got his prophesying working—and how!

It was in a game in which Earl Smith, the talkative catcher, was behind the bat for the Buccareas. The Pirates were ahead, 4 to 0, and he was telling Wilson, who was at bat, just how good the Buccs really were.

Two men were out and there were two on the sacks. The count on Hack was two strikes and two balls. The pitcher prepared to deliver another pitch.

"That," said Wilson, rather loudly, "after this pitch the score is going to be 4 to 2."

Kramer shot the ball at him and Hack crumpled it into the bleachers.

Came the seventh inning and the Cubs had the tying and winning runs on third and second.

"That," said Hack, as gently as he could, "this here ball game is over."

It was because Wilson hit the next pitch for a double, scoring two runs.

Sport Notes

Ireland has a prejudice against "foreign" games.

Kiki Cuyler was the best base stealer in both leagues the past season.

National horseshoe pitching championships are held at St. Petersburg, Fla., each winter.

Tommy Loughran plans to begin his comeback campaign in New York shortly after January 1.

Of the five tie games played in the National league in 1928, the Chicago Cubs participated in four.

Football players may take comfort in the thought that they are no more of a "nugget" than Santa Claus.

There is probably nothing, though, in a rumor that Wrigley will plow up the ball park and plant it in a spear-mint.

The late closing of the majors is making it hard on the players who usually pick up exhibition game money in the fall.

The new football stadium of Duke University has a scout box at the head of the horseshoe. There is room for 60 scouts.

Boxing, known as el boxeo, is becoming the national sport in Mexico. "Boxadores" now flourish everywhere in the country.

Writers in the affected areas must remember hereafter that in comparing ballstones to golf balls the new golf ball is larger.

Hickory has gone up 12 times in price, and it is reported the golfers at St. Andrews, Scotland, are taking up steel-shaft clubs, to improve their game.

Perhaps one reason for the little woman's languid interest in your careful explanation of the football rules is that she knows you know nothing about them, either.

Despite his unusual stature, Hans Wagner was a phenomenal base runner. He stole more than 150 bases in five straight seasons, 1904-1908, and in one of them, 1907, annexed 61.

Harry Carl Page, a Toronto mechanical engineer, after six years' work, has perfected a totalizer machine for race tracks which reveals before a race what each horse will pay if he wins.

Karl Kozeluh of Czechoslovakia holds permanent possession of the Bristol cup, emblematic of the world supremacy which he won by defeating all the leading tennis professionals in 1927, 1928 and 1929.

Longest Grid Run

Credit for making the longest running run recorded so far this season in college football is given to Ted Frank, Ashland, Ky., member of the Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, Ohio.

Frank caught a kick behind his own goal line and ran 104 yards for a touchdown in Ohio Wesleyan's game with Heidelberg.

Fire Chief Warns Of Fire Hazard

Now that the local merchants are decorating the store windows for the Christmas holidays Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy is calling attention to the fire hazard that is caused where electric light bulbs are wrapped around with these paper. The bulbs will set fire to the paper if allowed to remain lit for any length of time. The fire hazard in window decorating is not so great now since the electric light has crowded the old gas lights. Some window decorators like to have electric lights placed on the floor of the window and covered over with bright colored paper or leaves. This is also a fire hazard and should be avoided.

The SANDMAN STORY

ABOUT BABY DAYS

MELLY could remember a good many things. In fact, she could remember two whole years back, and yet she was not only three years old.

But she was a child now. She was no longer a baby. Some foolish people still called her a baby. Really, they knew very little. Didn't they know that a baby was a little bit of a helpless creature, very lovable, very sweet, but very helpless?

Didn't they know that a baby couldn't walk, or talk, or even think? At least, if a baby could think, a baby couldn't tell what she was thinking about.

And a baby couldn't remember well at all. In fact, a baby had a very bad memory. Melly knew that. Of course she knew it.

She had been a baby herself. And she, simply couldn't remember what she had thought about when she was a baby. She often tried to think hard. By thinking hard she felt she might remember something. But no matter how hard she thought, she couldn't remember further back than when she was one whole year old.

Her mother said that most people couldn't remember when they were a year old, but Melly could do that. Not much, of course.

She could remember only a few things about that time. She had a strange, dim remembrance of the night she had been carried in her daddy's arms. It was a very, very, dark night. She had been told since that they had arrived in the town where they were going to make their home and that the place they had gone to stay for the night was overcrowded and that there had been no room for them.

She knew they had arrived on a train, as she had been told that. But

Why We Do What We Do

by M. E. THOMSON, Ph. D.

WHY WE REPEAT

EVERY one knows what it is to be sorry, to regret doing something, wishing that we had done something else.

Some people would explain this fact by saying that it is conscience that is troubling the person who is sorry and regretful. And by conscience they would mean some sort of inner voice which condemns you for violating a moral law and keeps telling you over and over again that you have acted wrongly, that you should not have done so, that you will be punished for your act. This makes one feel blue and downhearted.

Whatever views we take of conscience the fact remains that all normal people feel a sense of guilt and shame in doing what they know to be wrong.

But it is not in connection with moral questions alone that we experience regret and are sorry. This happens every time we realize that we have made a mistake of some sort—injuring another person, making a foolish choice, getting cheated, or feeling cheap in some way, or in suffering a loss when we might have done better.

Some of us are inclined to overdo this just as some are inclined to not feel regret strongly enough. Those who suffer from too sensitive a nature in this respect are manifestly unfair to themselves.

As a man grows older he usually gets more mellow and has a broader view of things which may bring regret concerning his earlier conduct. One common regret is the lack of appreciation we have for our parents while they are alive. We do not realize at the time that we are not doing all we can to show our love and appreciation. But after they are taken from us and we cannot possibly make amends we can think up any number of nice things we might have done for them.

(By M. E. Thomson, Ph.D., author of "The Psychology of Conscience.")

Baby Reaches Physical

Belgrade.—Mladan, an isolated hamlet in the Mladan district, discovered a twenty-two months old girl with full physical maturity. The baby the child of a peasant family, showed early signs of abnormal body development and months ago possessed breast and other traits of a full grown woman. Superstitious neighbors threatened to kill the child, which they believe is a sure sign that the devil is glancing towards the vicinity of Belgrade. Physicians, however, came to the rescue. They plan to remove the child to a Belgrade clinic for study.

Eagle Clipped to Death in Attack on Children

Mooselaw, Sask.—A giant golden eagle lies battered to death here after making swooping attacks on school children and standing in its ground against the club-swinging onslaughts of adults.

The eagle stood its ground and faced the attackers, beating wings that measured more than seven feet from tip to tip. Under the heavy stroke of a club, the bird fell dead.

Seeks to Breed Musk Oxen in Spitzbergen

Oslo.—An attempt to breed musk oxen in Spitzbergen has been launched by a Norwegian hunter who recently returned from Greenland with 23 musk ox bulls and cows, which will be used for breeding purposes to start a herd. No wild animals that will be of danger to the musk oxen exist in Spitzbergen and the conditions for breeding are favorable.

It seemed such a pity. They were afraid she would fall downstairs. And she was not afraid of anything. Not a single thing.

But best of all, during those months was the great big Newfoundland dog with the long, soft, beautiful hair and the most handsome face Melly had ever seen.

Her mother's face was nice and so was her daddy's, and there were cross faces, too—faces that looked at her and made her feel in the way and not loved. Faces that belonged to people who also had a cross way of speaking. Melly didn't know just what was the matter with those people then. When she was three, though, and thought about them she knew that they were merely "fussy" people who were "made nervous" by children.

But the dog had the most handsome face of all. She loved to put her head close to his head. And he seemed to love it, too. And he gave her rides—all the rides she wanted—on his big, beautiful back. Oh, she would never forget that dog. Not as long as she lived. He had made her have so many happy times when she was little. Yes, she was little then, but even then she was not a baby. Still, perhaps she could call those her baby days. Now, though, she was three years old and she was most certainly a baby no longer. Only foolish people called her a baby now!

Dear Editor:

SINCE I was a kid, I have always liked to see the wheels go round. I've watched a big factory roll liver pills. I've seen various factories, soap plants, match works, golf ball foundries and razor blade clinics.

Machines can do most everything. I'm waiting now for a machine to manicure nails.

Watching a girl manicurist today I was impressed with the number of wasted strokes. At least 90 per cent of her motions, I estimate, were unproductive. What a field for scientific management!

But any man who pays $1 for being fussed over probably wants those extra flourishes and hand pats. It's a good racket, and those who prefer can always snip their own with the desk shears.

THERE IS WISDOM IN BUYING DIAMONDS

Events of late have somewhat changed the general conception of investment values.

Securities and valuables of all kinds have been subjected to a pitiless analysis. Few have retained their stability in the bitter test.

The Diamond, however, emerges unscathed. The intrinsic worth of this everlastingly beautiful jewel is just as great today as it ever has been.

An investment in a guaranteed diamond is an investment in certainty.

Cordially yours,

Safford & Scudder
